Seven honored for service to Penn State

Two special service awards honoring volunteers were added to the five annual campus recognition awards given at the Penn State Wilkes-Barre Faculty/Staff Convocation on May 11.

Thomas R. Robinson, Dallas, district engineering manager of Bell of Pennsylvania, was recognized for his commitment and dedication. Robinson has served on many Penn State committees and advisory bodies, assisted with searches, headed fund raising drives, and given consistently of his time and expertise to the University, particularly the Wilkes-Barre Campus.

Modesta Gregory, Hunlock Creek, was honored for many years of service to Penn State Wilkes-Barre. An assistant professor of mathematics until her retirement several years ago, Mrs. Gregory comes regularly to the campus Learning Support Center to tutor students who are having difficulties in math.

According to Dr. James H. Ryan, campus executive officer, "The awards program recognizes those individuals who best exemplify through their work and service the special values that we as a campus hold most precious."

Named as winners of the annual campus recognition awards were John Murphy, director of student programs and services; Albert Miller, maintenance foreman, and the maintenance staff; Harold A. Groff, assistant professor of engineering; Dr. M. Nouri-Moghadam, associate professor of mathematics; and John Kolesar, professor of engineering.

Dean Murphy, who resides in Dallas, received the Community Service Award because of his many community activities that improve life for the needy and lonely. The award recognizes a person who has made an outstanding voluntary and unpaid contribution to community life in the campus service area.

The Fran Brown Humanitarian Award was won by Miller, a Wilkes-Barre resident, and the maintenance staff. It recognizes those who make an outstanding contribution, beyond job responsibilities, to humanizing life within the campus by demonstrating concern and support for others.

Professor Groff, Sylvan Lake, heads the Penn State Wilkes-Barre telecommunications technology department. He received the Innovation Award because he has instituted many improvements to campus operations including additions to its phone system.

The Professional Development Award was given to Dr. Nouri, Dallas, the first Commonwealth Campus faculty member to be named as an Associate member of the Graduate College at University Park. During the past year Dr. Nouri gave talks at several prestigious seminars and conferences and had a paper accepted for presentation at the American Mathematical Society's Annual Meeting. He initiated the formation of the Newton Mathematical Society on campus and has submitted a proposal for a workshop for mathematics teachers to improve the level of instruction in our area's high schools.

Professor Kolesar, a Swyersville resident, was given the Excellence in Performance Award which recognizes a person who has earned the respect and admiration of colleagues by his superior performance of assigned responsibilities.

Recipients of the 1988 awards selected the 1989 award winners from nominations made from throughout the campus family. Each winner received a special edition print of Hayfield House, the former Conyngham home, now the Penn State Wilkes-Barre administration building.

Lake-Lehman students help in recycling

Good deeds brought in more than their own reward this year as the Penn State Wilkes-Barre Veterans Club incorporated recycling into its annual community cleanup day.

Picking up litter along with Veterans's Club members and student volunteers from Penn State Wilkes-Barre's MECA (Minority Cultural Education Awareness) Club and Broadcasting Club, were members of Lake-Lehman High School Student Council and Key Club.

This is the first year that high school students have taken part and with that additional man and woman power, the clean up area was doubled to include Lehman Center as well as the campus and Huntsville Road up to Huntsville Dam.

Dr. Thomas G. Winter, profesor of physics and chairman of the recycling project at the campus, was on hand to lend a hand and to see that the debris was properly separated and disposed of. Seven hundred pounds of glass and 32 pounds of metal were gathered as well as two pounds of plastic and 20 bags of other trash.

Profits were donated to a Penn State Wilkes-Barre scholarship fund.

Melanie Evans is spelling champ

The Jane M. Stitzer Memorial Spelling Bee was recently held at the Dallas Middle School. The bee is held to honor the memory of Jane Stitzer, a former Art Department member. The winner was Melanie Evans, an eighth grade student. Evans outlasted participants from grades 6, 7 and 8. Runner up was Richard Sylvia a representative of the 6th grade. Judges were Mr. Gordon Schlier, Mrs. Nancy Ferko and Mr. John Wolensky. Pictured from left, Mr. Gilbert Griffiths, principal; Melanie Evans, Mr. Gordon Schlier, moderator; Richard Sylvia.

  - Additional children from the same family receive $50.00 per week rate.
  - Rainy day activities will be held at local theatres, bowling alleys and the YMCA.

ACTIVITIES

It's fun to do new things at summer camp. Maybe it's catching your first fish, or learning to paddle a canoe. How about archery, swimming, boating or hiking? How about learning to swim? Or a Friday afternoon barbecue?

FACILITIES

Frances Slocum State Park is nestled in the back mountain area of Luzerne County just 9 miles from downtown Wilkes-Barre. The park is on 1,100 acres with a pool, ball fields, picnic pavilions, boating marina, lake, fresh water, and modern bathroom facilities. Transportation will be provided from downtown and back mountain to the park daily.

CAPACITY

Enrollment for each camping period is limited to 120 campers, boys and girls 6-14. Children are put into groups by age; seven children are assigned to each counselor. Since enrollment is limited, sign up NOW to avoid being disappointed.

COUNSELORS

The YMCA is proud of its Day Camp Staff. Trained, responsible men and women plan and supervise all activities. They help to make YMCA Day Camp the place where fun, physical activities and character-building all come together.

NOTE: Any child checking out after 6:00 p.m. will be charged a $5.00 service fee. All campers are accepted without regard to race, religion, or sex.

* INQUIRE ABOUT SPECIAL BACK MOUNTAIN BUS.
