Birch Hill Consort to perform at Misericordia

College Misericordia is pleased to open its 1989-90 Live Performance Series with a performance by The Birch Hill Consort on Sept. 14. This fine five-member group, located in Dallas, performs in the European chamber music tradition, specializing in baroque, classical and early romantic music. The Consort enjoys playing works by Purcell, Bach, Telemann, Mozart, Beethoven and others, and features its members in duets, trios, quartets and quintets.

The Consort has been performing together for four years and includes Margaret Bakker, violoncello; Jennie Congleton, violin; Jeannette Garber, viola and violin; Nancy Sanderson, flute and piccolo; and John Vaida, harpsicord, organ and percussion.

During each concert the group introduces its selections with stories about the composer, and describes its experience with the music. Each member also discusses the instruments used, including Vaida's double-manual French harpsicord and the Consort's renaissance percussion instruments.

Performing throughout Northeastern Pennsylvania and on public radio WVIA-90FM, the Birch Hill Consort adds its own baroque-style phrasing and ornamentation, much as 18th-century musicians

New show opening this week at Hefft House Gallery

The Gallery at the Hefft House, Shavertown, PA, opens its second season with the Fall Potpourri of Art. It will feature a selection of artwork from a newly-formed group of Northeastern Pennsylvanians called "Artists for Art." This organization encourages the involvement of all those in the community who are concerned with the visual arts or are artists themselves by offering, among other things, free lecture programs.

Works by several of these artists will be on display. They include Mary Grace Connolly, a Marywood College Fine Arts graduate who works in pencil as well as experimenting with collage; Predrag Djordjevic, an international exhibitor, whose paintings reside in corporate collections; landscape artist Renee Emanuel, who teaches at her home and studio in Moscow, PA; and Louis Pontone, who studied his craft in New York City, with works in oil and acrylic.

Also participating will be Bill Teitworth, an award-winning watercolorist, who is currently represented by a gallery in Washington, D.C.; Charles Welles, a sculptor who was most recently featured at a show in Vermont; and Marywood graduate Denis A. Yanashot, who specializes in airbrush and spraygun techniques, often of a large scale.

The show opens with a reception of Friday, September 8 from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. at the Gallery at the Hefft House, 104 E. Overbrook Avenue, Shavertown. The Gallery hours are Tues., Wed., Fri. and Sat. from 10 to 5; Thurs. 10 to 8 and Sun. 1 to 4. Further information can be obtained by phoning the Gallery at 675-4821.
