ALLAS POST

Vol. 100 No. 41 "A Centennial Edition"

Wednesday, October 18, 1989

Seth Linsinbigler of Harveys Lake has a hard decision ahead. Which one of these Darling's Farm pumpkins will become the family pumpkin. (Photo by Charlotte Bartizek)

No leaks found in Harveys Lake sewers

By SCOTT A. DAVIS Post Staff

Sewer Authority announced last Wednesday that tests have shown the sewer system is not the source of contamination found in the area's drinking water.

Authority Chairman John McManus told reporters, "After much dye-testing in Warden Place the sewer lines appear to be very sound, no leaks.

Confirming what it has been lines along Second, Kitchen, and solved," Boice said.

The authority used miniature lines. "I want the public to know video cameras Monday and Tues- we are still going to look to other day of last week to view sewer sources until this problem is

The cameras searched for any criticized by residents who claimed cracks, breaks, or other leaks in the sewer lines were the probable the pipes. No defects were found. source of the drinking water con-Authority Executive Director tamination. "We would now like to Richard Boice said it is now obvi- become a participant in fighting ous that sewer lines are not the this problem rather than a sussource of contamination. He said pect. We are looking at the best the problem could be an old out- interests of the people of this area. house or abandoned septic tank, I hope in the future that people are but is not the sewer authority's aware of that," McManus said.

Lake-Lehman teachers' contract still not settled, strike unlikely

By CHARLOT M. DENMON Staff Writer

While both sides in the dispute have indicated approval of the general terms for a new contract, Lake-Lehman teachers and the school board have yet to iron out all the details.

Following a meeting held last Wednesday night, it was announced that both sides had reached an agreement and that an announcement would be made at a special meeting to be held Friday, October 13, at 8 p.m.

At that meeting the one action item on the agenda called for a vote to either ratify or not ratify the fiveyear contract tentatively agreed on by the teachers union and the school board on Wednesday, but the vote did not take place.

Elgaway announced that the board sion after that meeting nor did any gram (a new item).

RELATED STORIES - pg 5

was informed at 7:10 p.m. by the state mediator that the teacher's union, which also met earlier Friday night, did not vote on the proposals as expected.

Elgaway explained that there would be no vote because both sides needed time to work out salary schedule details.

As of Friday no meetings had been scheduled since several of the board members would be out

School board members voted 8-1 to reject the fact-finder's report that had been accepted by the teachers of the district at a meeting held Tuesday, October 10.

None of the board members President of the board Marc commented on the board's deci-

According to reports, during the negotiations the teams could not agree on the district's proposal to add additional days to the faculty work schedule.

A report by the fact finder, Thomas J. DiLauro, appointed by the Pennsylvania Labor Board at the Lake-Lehman Education Association's request because after both sides had been negotiating since January and reached no agreement, was compiled and copies given to both the board members and the teachers.

The report stated that both parties agreed that items resolved included additional services, health care insurance, group term life insurance, chaperone duty, travel expense, accumulated sick leave, bereavement leave, mentor pro-

Flags can't flap in Kingston Twp.

By SCOTT A. DAVIS

While the state and federal government struggle with the right to burn the American flag, Kingston Township had to deal with its own flag problem last week.

Jamie Spencer, identifying herself only as a Kingston Township businessperson, attended the monthly meeting of the township supervisors on Wednesday night. She said she was notified by the township's zoning officer and told "OPEN" from her business on Main are strictly prohibited. Street in Shavertown.

Spencer challenged the zoning officer's demand to remove the flag. According to Spencer, Zoning Oilicer Benjamin Gorey told her she was in violation of a township ordinance because "the flag fluttered in the wind."

Spencer claimed flags are used by several township businesses to draw attention to their establishments. "We are not they only people who have these flags," she said. "Other businesses have this concern." No other businesses appeared at the meeting.

According to Gorey, the township has an ordinance prohibiting the use of flags and banners that flap in the wind as advertisements.

"I can appreciate the township want to stay in business," Spencer many other municipalities have told the supervisors. She said her the prohibition. flag tells people that her business is there and open.

The supervisors told Spencer that flags can be used for a two week period for grand openings she must remove a flag reading and special events. Any other uses

Township Solicitor Ben Jones explained the ordinance was made because the flags and banners are a distraction. "If its sole purpose is for advertising, they then distract vehicular traffic," he said. "That is the wrong the township wants to not wanting to look cheap, but we mend." Jones pointed out that

> Gorey assured Spencer that all businesses will be notified of the

The supervisors pointed out that American flags are allowed to be flown in the township.

plans proposed

By SCOTT A. DAVIS

Three possible approaches to recycling in the Back Mountain have been proposed to the Back Mountain Citizens Council Solid Waste Recycling Committee as they search for a way to meet a 1991 deadline to begin recycling placed on the municipalities by the state. The committee met with recycling experts and municipal and other public officials on September 28 to explore how best to implement recycling in the Back

One approach brought to the committee involves organizing the State Correctional Institution, Dallas as a Back Mountain recycling center. State Representative Scott Diettrick wrote a letter for the committee to Commissioner David Owens of the Department of Corrections asking if it would be possible to involve the state prison system in a recycling program.

Diettrick pointed out in the letter that state prisons are often located on large tracts of land. Some of this land, according to Diettrick, could be used for storage and/or sorting and separating recyclable materials.

Also, Diettrick explained that the large labor pool at state prisons could be called upon to lend assistance to the recycling pro-

Another proposal was submitted describing a plan in which Back Mountain recyclables could be shipped to a large recycling plant presently being planned for Lackawanna County.

Luzerne County Recycling Co-ordinator Frank Chadwick and Leonard Carlin of the Economic Development Council described the Luzerne and Lackawanna counties recycling facilities being planned. A large 125 ton per day recycling plant- called a Materials Recovery Facility- is being planned for Lackawanna County, according to the two men. The plant is expected to be operational by April,

According to this plan, each Back Mountain municipality could bring its recyclables to a Luzerne County receiving plant, which would then truck the materials to the Lackawanna plant.

The Lackawanna plant is being paid for partly by state funds with the stipulation that all processed materials be shipped by train.

At present the plant is expecting to receive co-mingled recyclables at no charge or payment. The plan-

See RECYCLING, pg 3

HL police officer awarded $60,000 in assault lawsuit

By SCOTT A. DAVIS
Post Staff

dent she was involved in. Spock injuries to the officer. was injured during the assault.

The woman was identified in the Drive, Harveys Lake.

The incident occurred during the officer's shift in August of 1986. According to reports, Spock was A Harveys Lake police officer called to the scene of a single vewho was assaulted by a woman hicle accident along Route 415 in during an accident investigation Harveys Lake. Spock arrived at the was awarded $60,000 by the scene and discovered Ferrara had driven her car off the road, over an Officer Ronald Spock, Lakeview embankment, and came to rest Terrace, lodged a suit against a near the edge of the lake. The woman who assaulted him twice woman became violent and kicked while he was investigating an acci- Spock in the groin twice, causing

A civil court jury's verdict suit as Ellen Ferrara of Lakeview awarded Spock and his wife, Isla, the $60,000 in damages last week..

Because of an error in processing The Dallas Post's circulation list last week, subscribers whose subscription expired between October 11 and November 11 were inadvertantly dropped from the

We have corrected the error and added one week to the subscriptions of all who were dropped. If you have experienced any other difficulty with your subscription, please call our office at 675-5211.

Thanks for your patience.

Inside The Post

Calendar.....14 Classified.12-13 Editorials.....4 Obituaries....2

Police Report.....2 Religious Services.....8 School.....10

Sports.....11

Coming up:

RED CROSS BLOOD DRIVE - Mon., Oct. 23, 1-6 PM, Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church, Rte. 29, Lake Silkworth. Sponsored by the Lake Silkworth Lions and Lioness. HARVEYS LAKE ZONING BOARD - Tues., Oct. 24, 7 PM, Harveys Lake

Municipal Bldg., Rte. 415 LEHMAN TOWNSHIP MUNICIPAL AUTHORITY - Mon., Oct 23, 8 PM, Lehman Twp. Municipal Bldg

HOMECOMING COURT - The Dallas High Homecoming Queen will be chosen from seven Dallas High Students at halftime in Saturday's game. Candidates are, from left; Lorraine Mitchell, Danielle Skoronski, Patricia Cominsky, Renee Strauser, Sarah Lewis and Amy Kowalski. Absent from photo was Carrie Wilson. (Photo by Ron Bartizek)

Excitement builds for Saturday's showdown

By CHARLOT M. DENMON Staff Writer

G.A.R. and Homecoming - Saturday will be a big day in Dallas. It's the game of the year - the battle of the undefeateds.

Both teams go into Saturday's game with a 6-0 record and the winner will probably be the Division B champion and earn the opportunity to go on to the Eastern Conference championship.

Grenadiers Coach Charles Fick in a recent television interview, said his team is ready for Dallas, but they are not in awe of the Mountaineers.

"He shouldn't be," said Dallas Coach Ted Jackson. "He has 19 starters back from last season and we have two. Their team is scary; they have good speed and some great athletes in skill positions. They have a good quarterback in Santana Johns. He is an exceptional athlete and as I have said before he has Division I

Jackson said the Grenadiers have two excellent receivers and if the Mountaineers key in on them, the Grenadiers can always go to their tight end, Matt Skrepenak.

"We have to keep them from making the big play," Jackson See SHOWDOWN, pg 2