'Arc Angel' headlines all night teen New Year's party

The kids wished for them and the kids got their wish. Arc Angel will play for the "Rockin' Lockin" on New Year's Eve at the Kingston Armory, and Suspect will make a special guest appearance. These are two groups of musicians from this area who are well known regionally and on the way to national stardom.

Arc Angel is a five piece, high energy rock extravaganza with Robert France, Carl Logan, Eddie Anthony, Russ Levan and Michael "Mo" McDowell. They are an exciting group who captivate their audiences and draw them into the show and onto the dance floor. They have been performing for audiences of all ages in Northeast Pennsylvania and are into doing shows for the younger age groups where there will be no drugs or alcohol.

Suspect features Jeanne Pizano, Danny Rosato, Mark Todd and Mike Dantone. They bill themselves as "high energy dance rock 'n' roll at its best with a touch of class!"

Young people who plan to come to the first-ever New Year's Eve Bash for Teens at the 109th Field Artillery Armory will find that they will have the finest show in town, bar none, for a $5.00 ticket charge.

Disc jockeys from WKRZ and WWRB, Rebel Radio, will add their own special touch to the entertainment.

The "Rockin'Lockin" is being planned by the Teen Steering Committee with representatives from area schools. They are planning for movies as well as music. So far, the movie lineup includes Rainman, Batman, and Police Academy Six. Hot dogs, hamburgers, and pizza as well as soft drinks will be available for purchase all night. A pancake and sausage breakfast will be served starting at 5 a.m. Breakfast is included in the ticket price. Dress is casual and the party will be open to seventh through 12th graders. Tickets are available at area schools, as well as Boscov's and Keefer's Jeans and More Stores.

Teens will have their own special party with chaperones from area social service agencies, government agencies and interested volunteers. Parents who think the evening sounds like fun are welcome to attend if they sign up to be chaperones.

Parents will know where their children are, and so will be able to rest more easily. The "Rockin' Lockin" means that once young people are admitted to the Armory they cannot leave until it ends at 6 a.m.

There are only 2000 tickets available for the event. Teens are urged to buy their tickets early to be part of the first ever "Rockin' Lockin"—our community answer to teens request for something to do to celebrate sober.
