Dallas UMC puts finishing touches on renovations

Major repairs and renovations have been underway on the Dallas United Methodist Church and parsonage since last August. The project was undertaken by the church under the direction of its Board of Trustees as part of the 100th Anniversary Celebration held last summer.

The goal of the project was to upgrade the physical facilities for ministry as the church moved "Into the Next 100 Years!"

A major component in the project is the complete rebuilding of the pipe organ. Fritzsche Organ Company of Allentown, began working on the organ in October with the dismantling of the organ taking place in January of this year. The completion date is on or about March 1.

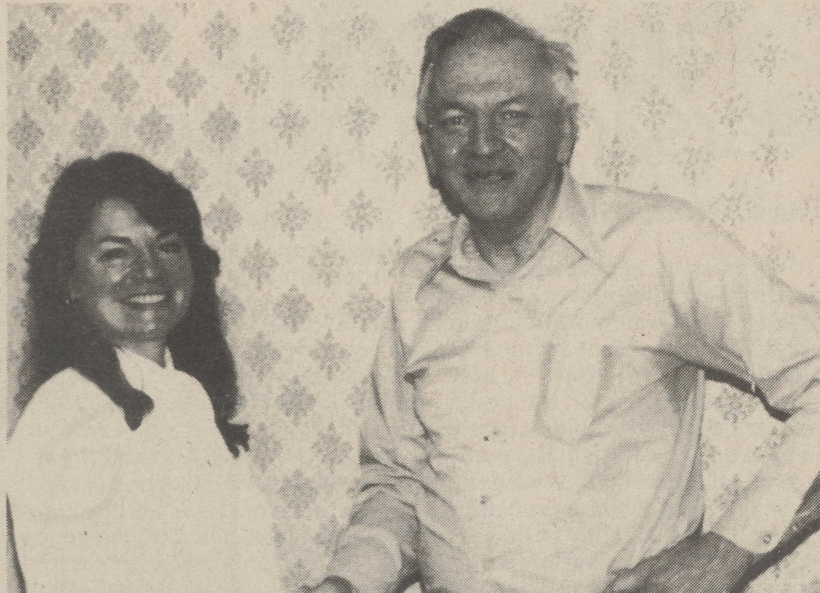

Other projects now completed include a fully painted church and church school building, carpeting in the Prayer Room and Meeting Room, a fire security system, new sidewalks and steps surrounding the entire church building, and heating upgrades. A new church sign has been installed as well.

The parsonage on Saginaw Street has been insulated and sided with vinyl siding, and a three room addition has been added.

Much of the work has been possible through generous support of the congregation. Memorial opportunities are still available as the work comes to an end.

A sincere thanks to all who have helped the church get ready for "The Next 100 Years!" A special rededication service will be announced soon pending the completion of the remaining work. All will be cordially invited to come and celebrate with the church.
