Learning about life on the farm

Shown above is Miss Monaco's four and five year old class at the Little People Day Care Center which recently completed a study of farm life. The group spent many days learning about farms, animals, and plants. During the study the children made butter, visited a farm, planted vegetables and compared the difference in various eggs. Another big project was the building of a 3-D farm which is shown behind the kids. (Photo by Rich Johnson)
