LCCC will offer courses by television

If you are interested in earning college credit, but are unable to attend classes on a regular basis, a number of college courses on television will be offered this Summer by the Luzerne County Community College TeleCollege Office.

Telecourses offer the opportunity to earn college credit while learning at home, for those who are unable to enroll in traditionally scheduled courses.

LCCC will offer four telecourses on public television station WVIA-TV, Channel 44, in June, as part of a nationwide Public Broadcasting Service Adult Learning Program.

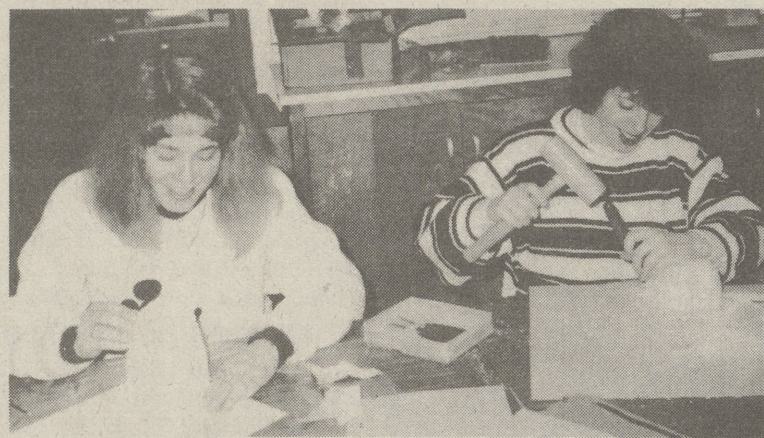

The first telecourse, "Business Law I: Business and the Law," will be shown on Sundays, beginning June 10 through August 12, from 6:30 to 8 a.m.

"Introduction to Physical Geology: The Earth Explored," will examine the forces which have shaped our earth including fossils, volcanoes, water, geothermal energy, glaciers, deserts, reefs, rocks and minerals. The telecourse will be shown on Mondays and Tuesdays beginning June 12 through July 24, from 6 to 6:30 a.m.

The third telecourse to be shown on WVIA-TV Channel 44 is "Introduction to Data Processing: The New Literacy," which will be shown on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, from 6 to 6:30 a.m., beginning June 13 through August 9.

In addition to the four telecourses which will be broadcast on Channel 44, 16 independent study telecourses will also be offered for area residents. The televised segments for the independent courses are viewed at the student's convenience in the college's Programmed Student Center.

For more information on any of the telecourses offered at LCCC, call Eleanor Miller, TeleCollege/TACKLE program coordinator at 829-7423.

Professionals to judge students' work

The Dallas Senior High School art classes will present their annual art exhibit at the Dallas Senior High School on Thursday, June 1, from 7 to 9 p.m. Students, parents, and the general public are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served; admission is free.

The students' art work will be juried by a trio of professionals; Brian J. Benedetti, director of the MacDonald Art Gallery of College Misericordia, art instructor at the Heights Elementary School, Wilkes-Barre, and coordinator of The Wilkes-Barre Fine Arts Fiesta; Mrs. Claire Morris, artist and art instructor at Bishop O'Reilly High School, and Mrs. Ann Parkhurst, a well known Back Mountain artist.

The art classes at Dallas High School include Art I, instructed by Steve Kaschenbach; Art I, II, III, Advanced Drawing and Experimental Painting instructed by Mrs. Jane Walzak who is also the department chairperson. All of the students' art work was started and completed in their school art classes.

Over 30 pieces of work previously exhibited in The Regional Scholastic Art exhibit at the Kirby Center will be included in the show. The art students worked on a special art project using balsawood slats donated by The Columbia Porch Shade Co., of Dallas. The students used acrylic paints on a palette made of the slats and then separated them, creating an illusion effect with the subject matter they choose.

Prize ribbons will be awarded in the following categories: drawings done on scratchboard; washout drawings; soap sculpture; soap stone sculpture; acrylic paintings; watercolors; drawings done in pencil and colored pencil; tissue paper overlay; perspective drawings; collage work of junk, material and paper; slat paintings; still life in pastel, oil pastel and colored pencil; ink renderings, pointillism with markers; album covers; mixed media; poster illustration; tempera illustration.
