Seminary Lower School earns Plaque

Students from Wyoming Seminary Lower School, Forty Fort were recently presented with a plaque from the American Cancer Society for their outstanding efforts for Daffodil Days. The school sold 451 bunches of flowers, earning $1804. This was the second highest order placed by any school, and the fourth highest order overall.

Donations received by the American Cancer Society go toward cancer research and patient services. Camp Can Do is a camp for children who are cancer patients, run by counselors who are former patients.

Dallas students learn about drunk driving

Students at Dallas High School were recently presented a program discussing the perils associated with drugs, alcohol and driving. The presentation, entitled: "The Trauma of Drinking, Drugs and Driving," was coordinated by Joanne Parrish, R.N., emergency services department, Wilkes-Barre General Hospital, and is part of an American Trauma Society program.

"Students are very attentive to the presentation," said Parrish, "because it provides a realistic portrayal of the many highway tragedies that occur because of drinking, drugs and driving."
