Open house
at Penn State
Thursday

Penn State Wilkes-Barre invites all high school students, grades 9-12 to a series of open houses at the campus in Lehman.

The theme for the program, set for Thursday, July 19 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., is "It's Never Too Early to Plan a Penn State Education."

"We are seeing more students each year who are thinking about college at an earlier age. They are the ones who have taken the right courses and are most prepared when that first day of college rolls around," said John Murphy, director of Student Programs and Services. "That's why we are inviting all high school students and their parents to come talk to us now; whether they are planning on entering school this fall, next year (1991) or in two or three years."

On hand will be faculty members, career counselors and advisors, and representatives of the student aid department to talk about the best way to finance a college education. Refreshments will be served.

"Penn State Wilkes-Barre offers more than 60 scholarships each year to outstanding local students," Murphy added, saying that the number and amount of scholarships being offered increases each year.

To make reservations for the open house, contact the Admissions Office at 717-675-9238 or 1-800-426-2358.

Dallas students purchase instructional supplies

Dallas Senior High School students of the American Literature Field Studies Association purchased books and video tapes for use in the classrooms at their school. Many of the items were purchased during their four-day pilgrimage to historic, cultural and scientific sites of New England. The materials purchased during the trip relate primarily to the school's curriculum in American Literature and American Culture. Included are books from the Roosevelt Museum Shop in Hyde Park, New York, where the students stopped and toured en route to New England. Books and videos were also purchased in Mystic, Connecticut, Plimoth Plantation, Nantucket Island and Provincetown.

Students have also ordered the Time-Life Nature Video Library suitable for use in a number of curricular areas at the high school. The American Literature Field Studies Association is committed to active, lively research in all curricular areas. During the pilgrimage to New England, attention was given to all the students' subjects/classes at Dallas. ALFS has adopted a true Liberal Arts philosophy in the integration of knowledge through a variety of sources to enhance their continuing education.

school of medical technology

Wilkes-Barre General Hospital School of Medical Technology recently graduated two students, Amy Wandel of Dallas and Mary Ellen Opeka of Pittston, who completed one full year of clinical rotation in the hospital's Department of Laboratory Medicine.

Graduates of this program are eligible for certification by the American Society of Clinical Pathologists (ASCP) and the National Certification Agency for Clinical Laboratory Sciences (CLS).

Medical technology students pursue studies at local colleges for three years, then spend their senior year in clinical rotation at an accredited hospital school. General Hospital's School of Medical Technology accepts students annually and is affiliated with Bloomsburg University, College Misericordia, King's College, University of Scranton and Wilkes University.

Dallas lists registration guidelines

The Dallas School District is requesting the cooperation of parents with children of school age who have not registered for the 1990-91 school year.

It is essential that the district be informed, as soon as possible, of all new students planning to register, especially the kindergarten and first grade students.

Problems occur with class and school building assignments as well as transportation arrangements when students are registered late. Parents of new students or those transferring from other schools are strongly encouraged to register their children immediately. Late elementary registrants may not be assigned to the most convenient school building.

All kindergarten through 5th grade students are to register at the Administration Building, Church St., Dallas. Junior and Senior High students will register at their respective school offices located on Conyngham Ave., Dallas.

Parents must bring certificates, report cards from the previous school and immunization records. No student will be allowed to enter school without proof of the required immunizations.

If there are any questions, call the school district at 675-5201.

Ann Wilson receives two Misericordia scholarships

Ann Marie Wilson, sophomore nursing major at College Misericordia, was awarded two scholarships for the 1989-90 and 1990-91 academic years. Wilson is a 1988 graduate of Lake-Lehman High School and following graduation spent a year as an exchange student at the Kagoshima Higashi Prefectural High School in Kagoshima, Japan. She is the daughter of Charles R. and Marie G. Wilson of Noxen.

Ms. Wilson received the Nesbitt Memorial Hospital Nursing Scholarship/Loan of $3,000 which is provided each year to candidates illustrating academic excellence and who satisfy Misericordia's admissions requirements for the nursing curriculum. This program, which requires each student recipient to repay his/her loan through an employment commitment to Nesbitt Memorial Hospital following graduation, was established in 1988 to provide needed jobs in the community for graduates seeking quality employment in the nursing profession. The program also encourages students to enter the nursing field by helping them defray the expense of their college education.

Wilson is also the recipient of a $500 Charles D. Flack Memorial Scholarship, which was established in 1989 by the Diamond Manufacturing Company, Wyoming, in memory of its founder. The scholarship is awarded to children of the company's full-time employees and candidates are chosen on basis of scholastic aptitude, leadership, involvement in school-related activities and good citizenship.

Wilson is a member of the Student Nursing Association of Pennsylvania (SNAP) and the Campus Ministry Adopt-A-Grandparent Program. A nursing assistant at the Mercy Center in Dallas, Wilson also works in the College library and tutors in anthropology and American national government.
