

MIXED STATES
 100 1/1/99  46
 BRIGHTON BINDERY
 BOX 336
 BRIGHTON, IA 52540

SERVING THE BACK MOUNTAIN

FOR MORE THAN A CENTURY

THE DALLAS POST

Vol. 101 No. 31

Dallas, PA Wednesday, August 8, 1990

35 Cents

Ron Post's name on Pub liquor license

By CHARLOT M. DENMON
 Staff Writer

Despite the fact that Ron Post of Dallas has denied that he was connected with TLC Enterprises Inc., trading as the Hearthstone Steak Pub in Dallas, his signature appears on the liquor license transfer from the Pub to Pizza Hut.

The files of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board show that the license was transferred April 13, 1988 by TLC Enterprises Inc. signed by Ronald L. Post to Cosmart Enterprises Inc., trading as The Pizza Hut, signed by president Daniel T. Coslick, and secretary Janet M. Coslick.

Since by resolution a corporation may designate only one or more of its officers to sign a transfer, it appears Post in 1988 was affiliated with TLC Enterprises, Inc. But in a November, 1989 response to a complaint filed against TLC, which named Ronald and James B. Post as defendants, Post's attorney denied that the Posts trade or do business as TLC Enterprises, or own the run-down property.

Incorporation papers filed March 17, 1975 in Harrisburg list Richard Chaney as president of TLC Enterprises, Inc., and Noel A. Thomas as secretary and treas-

See PUB, pg 5

VASCAR helps local police nab speeders

By RICH JOHNSON
 Staff Writer

30,000 cars use Route 309 daily

It didn't take long for Kingston Township police officer Mike Moravec to demonstrate the workings of the VASCAR speed timing device for a reporter. It took even less time for him to find a driver breaking the speed limit.

Kingston Township, along with other municipalities in the Back Mountain, is starting to crack down on motorists who like to travel faster than the speed limit. One of the most useful devices used by the municipalities in finding the lead-footed drivers is VASCAR.

VASCAR, which stands for Visual Average Speed Computer and Recorder, is a device that electronically determines the speed of a vehicle as it passes between across two markings on the road. "It is very accurate," said Moravec. "It notes the time that a car takes to pass the two points and then figures the car's speed." He said that VASCAR can be used in many different situations. An officer can use the device while following a car, while in front of a car, while traveling in an opposite direction of a car, or while parked alongside the road.

Despite the fact it is used to

See VASCAR, pg 5

CLOCKING YOUR SPEED - Kingston Township police officer Mike Moravec is shown above working the VASCAR unit used by the township to check the speed of motorists. At left the unit flashes the speed of a car that has just passed. Kingston Township was one of the first departments in the county to use VASCAR and along with other Back Mountain police departments uses the unit to help catch drivers who are traveling too fast. (Post Photo/Rich Johnson)

Stiff fines await violators

By RICH JOHNSON
 Staff Writer

If you are a driver who is thrilled by the high speeds your car can reach, chances are you might not be thrilled at how fast your money will go if you're cited for driving over the speed limit.

The cost of speeding in Pennsylvania has gone up now that additional costs have been added to the basic fines. The offender must now also pay court costs, and other fees going to the state. In all, the motorist caught for speeding will have five different costs to pay: The fine, CAT fund costs, EMS costs, court costs, and processing fees.

When an officer issues a citation for speeding, he will assess the fine for the offense. This varies with how fast the driver

See FINES, pg 5

The agony of defeat

John Oliver, who pitched for Back Mountain National and had the team's only hit, was stranded on second base when Shippensburg clinched the Section 3 Little League title Saturday. His expression contrasts with that of an elated Shippensburg player. More photos on page 14. (Post Photo/Ron Bartizek)

Local expert says Iraq sanctions won't work

By CHARLOT M. DENMON
 Staff Writer

"The situation in Kuwait and Iraq is grave and dangerous," said Dr. Mahmoud Fahmy of Dallas, Dean of Graduate Studies and Adult Education at Wilkes University. "It could have severe consequences throughout the world and Americans especially can be affected."

Dr. Fahmy explained briefly the background of Iraq and its position.

"Iraq's roots are tribal wars," he said. "The focus on Iraq was in the 18th and 19th centuries when Iraq was part of the Turkish Empire. Kuwaitis were under the British after World War I but then Turkey defined the boundaries and carved Kuwait in half."

"Iraq claimed that Kuwait was

Dr. Mahmoud Fahmy has been monitoring the situation on a short-wave radio action is similar to Israel and the Palestinians," explained Dr. Fahmy.

"I spent a year in the Mid East and lived like a bird in a gilded cage. The royal families are not liked by the people on the street. The royalty lives lavishly while the other people go without food, clothing, good housing and other items.

See IRAQ, pg 3

Jackson Twp. wants pools fenced

By RICH JOHNSON
 Staff Writer

The Jackson Township Supervisors are planning to crack down on residents who own swimming pools which are not surrounded by fences.

At Monday's meeting, the supervisors stated that the township will begin enforcing an ordinance that requires all swimming pools in the township to be surrounded by protective fencing.

The supervisors noted safety and liability reasons for the township's harder stance on the issue.

"We don't want someone to have a pool and then have someone else fall in and drown," said supervisor Joseph Stager. "Across the state it has been proven that some of the liability falls on the supervisors, and this job doesn't pay enough for me to be held liable."

Stager said that the township has an ordinance on the issue and the building inspector has been instructed to check the township for any open pools.

Township Solicitor Blythe Evans agreed with Stager's comments, saying that the instances of children falling into open pools is common. "The fence is designed to keep people out, especially children," said Evans. He noted that a relative of his was involved in an accident where a child fell into a pool and drowned.

Evans said that residents with pools are being notified of the ordinance and those without fences are being sent certified letters. He

See POOLS, pg 3

Byron takes five Keystone medals

By RICH JOHNSON
 Staff Writer

She is a pediatrician by day, a mother by night and a swimmer by choice and for 40-year-old Joan Byron of Dallas the recently held Keystone Games were proof that you can accomplish great things when you put your mind to it.

Byron competed in her second Keystone Games recently and walked away with five medals, a big smile, and a lot of satisfaction. The mother of three competed in the Masters Swimming competition at the games which were held in Allentown.

Byron swam in five events and won a medal in each. She placed first in the 50-meter freestyle, the 50-meter butterfly, the 50-meter breaststroke and the 200-meter medley. She also placed third in the 200-meter freestyle.

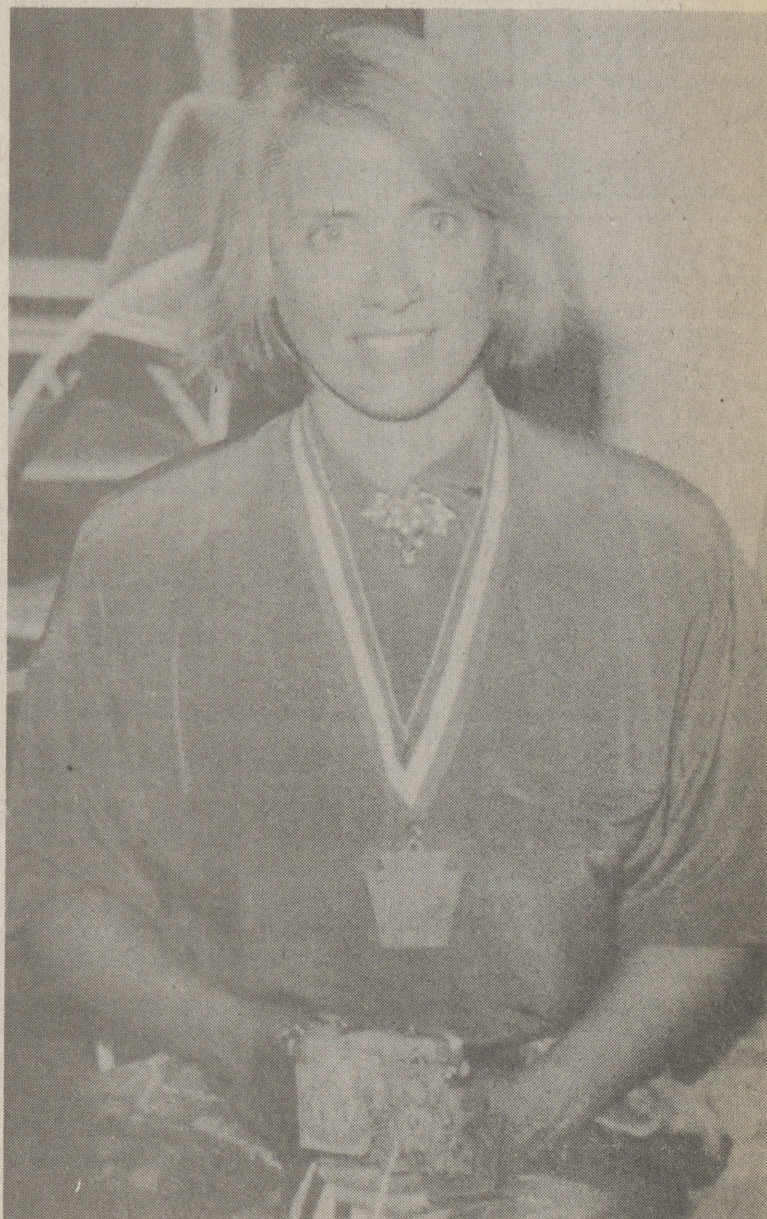

"I'm very pleased with my performance," Byron said Monday. "I had trained very hard for the games and did better than I ever thought I could."

Byron said that winning the medals wasn't the only satisfaction of the games. "My times were excellent and I beat a swimmer from Philadelphia whom I had never beaten before," she said.

Byron began swimming in high school in upstate New York. She said she learned her competitive spirit there. After finishing high school she began to pursue other areas of her life and let swimming go.

"I swam as a way to release pressure in medical school," she

See MEDALS, pg 5

SWIMMING TO SUCCESS - Joan Byron of Dallas is shown above wearing one medal and holding four others that she won during the recent Keystone Games. (Post Photo/Rich Johnson)

Inside The Post

- | | |
|------------------|--------------------------|
| Calendar.....18 | Police Report..... 2 |
| Classified.15-17 | Property Transfers....12 |
| Editorials.....4 | School.....13 |
| Obituaries.....2 | Sports.....14-15 |

Coming up:

- DALLAS SCHOOL BOARD - Mon., Aug. 13, 8 PM, Administration Bldg., Church St.
- JACKSON TOWNSHIP MUNICIPAL AUTHORITY - Mon., Aug., 13, 7 PM, Jackson Twp. Fire Hall
- LAKE TOWNSHIP SUPERVISORS - Sat., Aug. 11, 9 AM, Lake Twp. Municipal Bldg., Route 29 North
- LAKE-LEHMAN SCHOOL BOARD - Tues., Aug. 14, 8 PM, Lehman-Jackson elementary school
- LEHMAN TOWNSHIP SUPERVISORS - Mon., Aug. 13, 8 PM, Lehman Twp. Municipal Bldg.