

Mundy

I've always wanted to be a judge. It's a goal I sought to achieve since I was a law student in college," said Mundy. "I applied for former Judge Podcasy's position but I had no idea that I would receive the nomination."

Mundy, formerly a resident of East End in Wilkes-Barre, resides with his wife, Rita and two children Maura and Hugh, on Lehman Avenue in Dallas. His daughter is a senior at King's College, and his son is a sophomore at Notre Dame. His wife is a member of the faculty in the Dallas School District.

Although Mundy has not played an active role in politics he has been active in many community and civic organizations. He serves on the Board of the Boy Scouts of America, the Luzerne County Commission on Economic Opportunity, the Disciplinary Board Hearing Committee of the state Supreme Court and is a former member of Family Service, the United Way and Legal Services. Atty. Mundy started the Luzerne County Legal Services in 1970 and served as executive director.

"I'm a registered Democrat but I have never been deeply involved in politics. I have been involved in community service and with family activities. I do believe that my experience, maturity and demeanor will be an asset to me as a judge. I also served as an assistant district attorney under then District Attorney Patrick Toole, now a judge.

"He was my mentor then and, who knows, he may be again," said Mundy. "I did organize the Luzerne County Legal Service and since I have been in the Back Mountain I've been involved in soccer and Little League and other youth activities which I believe should be beneficial."

"I plan to talk with Sen. Charles Lemmond who is such a gentleman and who had done so much for the Back Mountain. He is an outstanding person."

Mundy said his family is very supportive and delighted that he received the nomination. He also said if his nomination is confirmed he will have to give up his law practice.

boxes are offered to the public. Snyder said that she has ordered some other items for the office to help with its appearance. She is expecting a display case to help with the retail sales of stamp collecting items for the office.

The office itself is quite unique and adds to the splendor of the place. It measures only 148 square feet, which makes it one of the smallest in the country, according to the U.S. Postal Service in Washington D.C.

A spokesman for the service said that post offices are ranked by the size of the office building. The smallest Post Office in the country is in Florida; it covers only 61 square feet.

The smallest post office in Pennsylvania is in Rea and measures a whopping 64 square feet. According to the Postal Service, this post office only has one customer.

Snyder admits there are many post offices that are larger than hers but says, "...there aren't many that are as nice or as friendly."

and necessary directions, according to Chief Sabol.

The basic 911 system which the Back Mountain Comm Center will use is a type of forwarding system similar to speed dialing.

"Our 911 will include the numbers that have the first three digits as 477, 674, 675, 696 and 639," Sabol explained. "All of our dispatchers have been trained and we will go into simultaneous dispatch at the same time Basic 911 goes into effect."

"If a call comes in for a broken arm or something similar we won't dispatch the medics but if it is a call for a heart patient, stroke or other critical injury or attack, the medic unit will also be dispatched," Sabol said.

"Our bylaws mandate that the Back Mountain Communications Center must send out the message to the proper municipality. There are buttons on the console for fire, ambulance and police. If the municipality is not a member we will contact the non-member unit so they can dispatch their own unit," Sabol explained.

"Association Public Safety Communications Officer Barney Dobinick and State Certified EMT John Ash have trained all of our dispatchers, full-time and part-time," said Chief Sabol. "They will know how all systems work and how they need to be served."

Dobinick will work with the dispatchers as administrator. The full time dispatchers are Marc Bregman, William Alaimo and Charles Casey.

Part-time dispatchers are Gerald Marsh, Chris Davis, Joe Bren, Frank Ziegler, Doug Higgins, Brian Feeney and John Sheehan.

Within the next few days we hope to name an acting chief dispatcher," Sabol explained. "It will be acting only, not permanent, we will move cautiously on that position."

The Back Mountain Communications Center will pick up the costs for the basic 911 which will be about $16 for each of the lines which run into the center.

When the enhanced 911 goes into effect in Luzerne County, the Back Mountain Center will become a satellite center with the Luzerne County Communications Center forwarding Back Mountain calls to the satellite. The enhanced system could cost about $1.25 maximum on each resident's phone bill. If a resident has more than one line into his residence, he would be charged for each line.

The Post, United Penn Bank to offer free subscriptions to Mideast soldiers

United States soldiers serving in the Mideast who have family connections in the Back Mountain will soon be receiving a free subscription to The Dallas Post. The Post and United Penn Bank are teaming up to offer the subscriptions at no charge to members of the armed forces stationed in Saudi Arabia or aboard ship in the region.

Post publisher Ronald Bartizek suggested the program to Barbara Fritz, local marketing director of United Penn Bank, last week in response to continuing reports about the troops' desire for news from home. The subscriptions will be mailed to an Army Post Office, from which they will be transported by air to the Mideast.

The Post is making the special subscriptions available at one-half the regular price, with United Penn Bank picking up the cost. They will be available for armed services personnel whose immediate families reside within the following zip codes: 18612 (Dallas); 18618 (Harveys Lake); 18627 (Lehman); 18636 (Noxen); 18654 (Shawaneese); and 18708 (Shavertown), or who graduated from the Dallas or Lake-Lehman high schools.

The Post will be delivered for six months or the length of the individual's tour in the crisis zone, whichever is less.

Persons who wish to have a subscription sent under the program should call The Post at 675-5211 from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. Or, stop at the office in the 309-415 Plaza in Dallas during the same hours.
