Teen charged with holiday vandalism

An 18-year-old Dallas man faces charges of prowling and corruption of minors after a rash of theft and vandalism that occurred December 21.

An investigation began after patrolmen James J. Martin and James Drury were dispatched to 93 Lehman Ave., Dallas, where the resident told police someone removed decorations from the door.

Shortly after the police officers were called to 53 Powderhorn Drive, Dallas, where the owner reported lights and decorations were taken from outside the home. The owner identified the car as white Ford Taurus and also gave police the license number of the car.

A third call took the police to 519 Machell Ave., Dallas, where the owner heard noise outside and saw a white male trying to remove decorations. He went out to try to apprehend a male who fled into the woods.

Officer Truman Brandt found two juveniles in the suspected car and while talking with them spotted several pieces of plastic in the car and asked about the plastic items. The boys admitted taking the decorations and also gave them the name of the male who fled into the woods, identifying him as Willard Whitesell, RD 1, Dallas.

Police also found a Dallas Senior High School football jacket in the car with the name 'Willie' on it.

Parents of the juveniles were contacted and the police explained that charges against the two juveniles would be filed through the juvenile probation center and they were released in the custody of their parents.

Whitesell later came to the police station and told officers he was the suspect who fled into the woods after taking numerous decorations.

Later that night Borough police received more complaints of decorations being taken from the same area. Officer Wayman Miers had the victims come to the police station to identify their property. Total value of the items recovered was $402.

Whitesell was charged with loitering, prowling at nighttime and corruption of minors, and will appear before District Magistrate Earl Gregory.

Lehman named Yacht Club commodore

The Harveys Lake Yacht Club has announced its annual change of command. Dr. Clinton Lehman was elected commodore of the yacht club for 1991. He will be assisted by Paul M. Rodda, vice commodore. The immediate past commodore is Dr. Byron Myers. Pictured above, from left, are Dr. Byron Myers, Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Lehman and Dr. Clinton Lehman.

Penn State offers gardening program

Luzerne County residents are being offered the opportunity to participate in the Penn State Master Gardening Program in 1991. Master Gardeners are members of the community with a keen interest in all aspects of gardening and a desire to help others.

What really sets them apart from other gardeners is their special training in horticulture. In exchange for their special training, Master Gardeners serve as volunteers working with the horticultural related programs conducted by Penn State Cooperative Extension.

All Penn State Gardeners have a strong interest in horticulture and a willingness to learn more. Most important is the desire to help others. In order to participate in the program, gardeners must score at least 80 percent on a pre-test. Certification as a Master Gardener requires completion of a series of training sessions and fulfillment of 50 hours of volunteer service. To schedule a date to take the test before February 5, 1991 call 825-1701 or 459-0736 ext. 701.

Gardeners who successfully complete the program will receive Continuing Education Credits through Penn State University and a card indicating that they are a qualified Master Gardener.

Master Gardeners may fulfill their volunteer commitment in a variety of ways which include: teaching 4-H plant science in schools, teaching horticulture classes, answering horticulture questions in the extension office and at fairs, etc.

If you are interested in participating in the Master Gardener Program, please contact the Luzerne County Extension Office at 825-1701 or 459-0736, ext. 701.

Penn State fund drive hits 40 percent

"The Campaign for Academic Excellence," Penn State Wilkes-Barre's Annual Fund campaign has reached 40 percent of its overall goal of $150,000, reported Tom Robinson, Director of Development.

The Faculty/Staff division surpassed its goal of $10,000 and is currently at 112 percent. The Alumni Division, at 51 percent of goal, has scheduled another Alumni Phonathon for late February.

The Community Division is set to kick-off in January. This division has set a goal of $50,000 of which 20 percent has already been raised in early contributions.

The Campaign for Academic Excellence is the only source of local monies available for students who plan to attend Penn State Wilkes-Barre. Scholarships are awarded to academically talented students who need some financial assistance to attend college.
