Supreme Court Justice Stevens at Wilkes April 30

John Paul Stevens, Associate Justice, Supreme Court of the United States is the guest speaker for the 10th annual Max Rosenn Lecture in Law and Humanities at Wilkes University on April 30 at 8 p.m. Justice Stevens will be introduced by the Honorable A. Leon Higginbotham, Jr., Chief Judge, United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit in Philadelphia. The free lecture is open to the public and will be held in the Arnaud C. Marts Sports and Conference Center on the University campus at 274 South Franklin Street in Wilkes-Barre. A native of Chicago, Illinois, Justice John Paul Stevens was nominated by President Richard Nixon to the United States Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit, succeeding Elmer J. Schnackenberg. He was confirmed by the United States Senate on October 14, 1970; and took the oath of office on November 2, 1970. President Gerald Ford nominated him as an Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court on December 1, 1975. Confirmation by the Senate followed on December 17, 1975 and he took the oath of office two days later. A graduate of the University of Chicago Laboratory School, Justice Stevens earned his bachelor's degree in English Literature from the University of Chicago. As an undergraduate he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Psi Upsilon. He earned his law degree magna cum laude from Northwestern University and served as Co-editor of the Illinois Law Review. Justice Stevens was also a member of the Order of the Coif and Phi Delta Phi. In 1947, he began his law career as a clerk to the Honorable Wiley Rutledge, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. Admitted to the Illinois Bar in 1949, Justice Stevens became an Associate with Poppenhusen, Johnston, Thompson and Raymond in Chicago in 1950. Two years later, he became a partner with Rothschild, Stevens, Barry and Myers in Chicago and remained there until his appointment to the United States Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit. Justice Stevens has served as a lecturer in Antitrust Law at the Northwestern University School of Law and the University of Chicago Law School. He was also a member of the faculty for the Salzburg Seminar in American Studies in 1978, and for the Appellate Judges Seminar at the New York University School of Law in 1979. Other prestigious assignments in his legal career have included, Associate Counsel to the Subcommittee on The Study of Monopoly Power Committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives, a member of the Attorney General's National Committee to Study the Antitrust Laws, and Chief Counsel to the Special Commission appointed by the Illinois Supreme Court to investigate integrity of the judgement of People v. Isaacs in 1969. Justice Stevens is a member of the Illinois Bar Association; Chicago Bar Association; Federal Bar Association; American Law Institute; and the American Judicature Society. The author of more than two dozen legal writings, Justice Stevens is the father of one son and three daughters. In 1980, the Honorable Max Rosenn celebrated his 10th anniversary as Judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit. That year, in recognition of the anniversary and in "appreciation for his many contributions to the field of Law, to the United States judiciary system and to the quality of life in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania," Rosenn's family, former law clerks and other friends initiated "The Max Rosenn Lecture Series in Law and Humanities" at Wilkes University. Each year the series brings speakers of international reputation to the Wyoming Valley.

Theater seeks instructors for kid's workshop

The Little Theatre of Wilkes-Barre is seeking instructors for its Summer Theatre Workshop to be held at the Little Theatre, 537 N. Main Street, Wilkes-Barre. Openings are available for experienced and enthusiastic people who can instruct acting, stage craft, make-up, or costumes. There is also an opening for a director for the workshop's student production. The workshop is geared toward students, grades 7 through 12, who are interested in learning more about theatre. As well as classroom activities in basic acting and backstage techniques the students are expected to participate in a production for the general public. Classes are scheduled for Monday, Wednesday and Thursday, 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. and Saturday 9 a.m. to 12 noon, from June 19 through July 28, with a student production July 26 and 27. So the students receive a well-rounded theatrical experience, different courses will be offered at least once a week but no more than three times a week. For instructors, this means it is not necessary to commit to a four-day week. If you have theatrical experience, like teenagers and would enjoy a rewarding summer, submit a letter of interest and resume by April 18 to Jacki Felder, Summer Theatre Workshop Chairperson, 649 Warren Avenue, Kingston, Pa 18704.
