German student visits Dallas Middle School

Recently Benjamin Kohler a seventh grade student from Germany visited with Mrs. Firouzeh Razavi's eighth grade German classes in the Dallas Middle School. The students were excited and eager to meet Benjamin and ask about life in Germany using their German language skills. Benjamin went with the students to their other classes and he was very interested in how an American school was run. At the end of the day Benjamin and the Dallas Middle School students had a better understanding and appreciation for each other's cultures. ### Montessori School offers summer school

Wyoming Valley Montessori School will sponsor a summer day camp centering on the history of the Wyoming Valley—beginning with the river itself and its early prehistory, moving into the ecology of the river, enjoying the lifestyle of the native Americans and culminating in a sampling of colonial life. Camps will meet during weekdays from July 8 through August 2 and are open for pre-school and elementary age children. The school will also sponsor an art camp, a young readers' camp and a reading brush-up camp. The first week of the river history camp will include such activities as making fossils, building five-foot high papier mache dinosaurs and a visit to the "Dinosaurs Alive" exhibition at Scranton's

Everhart Museum. Children will also make their own museum of prehistoric life. The ecology camp will teach children about plant and animal life in and near the river. Closely supervised trips to the Kirby-Nesbitt Park Outdoor Education facilities near the river will be featured this week. Children will observe animal and plant life and try their hands at trailblazing. Deborah Karr Vaida will direct the camps. A veteran camp director with 12 summers of YMCA camp experience in Connecticut.

Vaida has more recently served as a teacher-counselor for the American Council for International Studies, and as owner and operator of Shuttelbug Weaving in Shavertown. She has taught physical education at King's College and adult fitness at the Jewish Community Center and the Wilkes-Barre YWCA. She began her career as an elementary school physical education teacher. For information or registration at any of the camps, call the Montessori School at 288-3708. Montessori is located at Market and Maple in Kingston.
