College courses put on television by LCCC

If you are interested in earning college credit, but are unable to attend classes on a regular basis, a number of college courses on television will be offered this summer by the Luzerne County Community College TeleCollege Office.

Telecourses offer the opportunity to earn college credit while learning at home, for those who are unable to enroll in traditionally scheduled courses. The courses combine television lessons, reading assignments, one or more on-campus sessions for discussion, review for exams or alternate assignments.

LCCC will offer five telecourses on public television station WVIA-TV, Channel 44, beginning in June, as part of a nationwide Public Broadcasting Service Adult Learning Program.

Among the telecourses to be offered this summer are: General Psychology: "Discovering Psychology," which covers fundamental principles of Psychology. The telecourse will be broadcast on Saturdays, from 6:30 to 8 a.m., beginning June 15 through August 10.

Principles of Sociology: "Focus on Society," offers clues to understanding the myriad of social events of our time through interviews with renowned social scientists and examinations of portions of society experiencing change. The telecourse will be shown on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays, from 6 to 6:30 a.m. from June 10 through August 14.

Business Law I: "Business and The Law," includes the law of sales, commercial paper, agency and property. It also examines government regulation, employment practices, and consumer and environmental protection. This telecourse will be shown on Sundays, from 6:30 to 8 a.m., beginning June 9 through August 11.

Principles of Economics I (Macro): "Economics USA," which examines the major historical and contemporary events which have shaped 20th century American economics, will be broadcast on Thursdays, from 5:30 to 6:30 a.m., beginning June 13 through July 25.

Introduction to Ethics: "Ethics in America," will provide persons preparing for careers in a host of fields with the intellectual and analytical tools needed to cope with ethical and moral dilemmas. It can be seen on Fridays, from 5:30 to 6:30 a.m., beginning June 14 through August 16.

In addition to the telecourses which will be broadcast on Channel 44, 11 independent study telecourse will also be offered. The televised segments for the independent courses may be viewed in the college's Programmed Study Center, Building #5, on the college's main campus in Nanticoke.

Among the independent study course offerings are Principles of Marketing I; Personal Money Management: "Personal Finance and Money Management"; Principles of Management: "The Business of Management"; Principles of Economics II (Micro); "Economics USA"; Child Psychology: "The Growing Years"; The Brain: "Mind and Behavior"; and Principles of Environmental Science: "The Race to Save the Planet."

Also offered for independent study are The Civil War; Vietnam; Personal and Community Health: "Here's to Your Health"; American Government: "Government by Consent"; and The Family.

For more information on how to register to earn college credit through the LCCC TeleCollege program, call Eleanor Miller, program coordinator, at 829-7423.
