Tomorrow, lives will depend on the medical resources you make possible today.

Become one of General's 1991 Guardians.

Families who can't pay for the medical care they need. The elderly. Homeless people. People like you who suddenly find themselves in need of the sophisticated resources of advanced medicine . . .

For 119 years, General has had an unbroken covenant with the residents of the Wyoming Valley. It's a promise to provide you with up-to-date healthcare at a moment's notice, regardless of your ability to pay.

It's a pledge of leadership fulfilled by Wilkes-Barre General Health Corporation, the comprehensive healthcare network that began as Wilkes-Barre General Hospital and expanded to include Heritage House and Rural Health Corporation of Northeastern Pennsylvania.

It's a commitment to define today's healthcare in meaningful ways. And to redefine it for the 21st Century. In emergency treatment and diagnostic testing; in surgery and over 30 other medical specialties; and in initiatives that include cardiac, cancer and elder care programs as well as preventive care, primary physician care and women's medicine.

It's a promise renewed year after year, through the anticipation of your needs, the introduction of medical advancements, the continuation of quality care and service.

The covenant between you and General is a lifetime commitment. To your family. To your community. To the future. Today, you can become a guardian of that covenant, a participant in its fulfillment.

With your gift, General's Rural Health Corporation can continue to make primary care available to poor, rural and homeless families who have nowhere else to turn. With your help, General's Heritage House can rebuild its Endowment Fund to defray the costs of care for elderly residents who have no other financial resource. With your generosity, Wilkes-Barre General Hospital can continue to provide the advanced technologies, facilities and professional training that are vital to the life-or-death struggles against heart disease, cancer, high-risk childbirth, traumatic injuries and more.

Tomorrow, the life of someone you love may depend on the medical resources your gift helps to make possible today.
