Dallas Rotary Club installs officers

Noxen to get new phone services

Commonwealth Telephone Company has begun preparations for a capital investment project affecting customers in the Noxen area with telephone numbers beginning with 298. Commonwealth will spend approximately a half-million dollars on the project.

In August, Commonwealth plans to begin replacing the existing switching equipment in the Noxen central office with an advanced computer digital system. Rich Jones, Commonwealth's Network Switching Supervisor, said the new digital equipment will improve the overall quality of telephone service and enable Commonwealth to offer future upgrades to customer telephone systems.

Beginning on August 5, Commonwealth Telephone customers in the 298 Noxen exchange may receive calls from telephone company representatives. The purpose of these calls is to test the new equipment. Customers may receive test calls between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m., until August 28. The calls ensure that the equipment is fully operational and that the company's records are accurate.

Any customer who doubts the authenticity of the calls may verify the information by calling the telephone company at 1-800-447-3140.

Once the new technology is installed, all customers in the 298 exchange will have the option to choose custom calling features such as call waiting, call forwarding, 3-way calling and speed calling. Other services which will be available to 298 customers include fixed-call forwarding, voice mail and 900 blocking.

Misericordia to build swimming pool

College Misericordia will begin construction of a new $5 million health and recreation complex on campus this fall, announced Dr. Pasquale Di Pasquale, Jr., Misericordia president.

Construction will begin this October and is scheduled to be completed by November, 1992. High Construction, Inc., Lancaster, Pa, designed the complex and will build it, he said.

"This exciting project is another indication of Misericordia's vitality and growth and of its ongoing commitment to our students and community," Di Pasquale explained. "By building this facility, we are continuing our expansion and development of both our health and athletic programs."

The 78,000 square foot building will contain classroom and office space for Misericordia's new physical therapy and current occupational therapy program. Other features include a gymnasium/field house, racquetball courts, weight/fitness rooms, indoor jogging track, dance and aerobic rooms, and a six-lane NCAA regulation swimming pool, the only indoor pool of its kind in the Back Mountain.

The new complex, the largest construction project on Misericordia's campus since 1972, is part of Misericordia's ongoing upgrading of its athletic facilities and its petition to join the NCAA requirements and anticipates joining Division III by July 1992, he added.

Members of Misericordia's Board of Trustees, administration, and High Construction representatives will invite the public to examine a model and drawings of the health and recreation complex during a community informational session on Wednesday, August 14 at 7:30 in McHale Lounge, McHale Hall. High Construction will detail the building's features while college officials will describe how the complex may benefit the community.
