

COMMUNITY

Penn State cultural and performing arts series begins September 15

From unique American mime to hot Latin jazz...the range of entertainment planned for Penn State Wilkes-Barre Fall Cultural and Performing Arts Series should suit every taste.

• The series begins September 15 at 1:30 p.m. with Trent Arterberry-Mime, in the Science Building Auditorium. He has entertained more than half a million people around the world with a presence, grace and precision that define his unique style of mime.

• On October 3, at 7:30 p.m., Salsamba, a latin jazz quintet will blend the traditions of American jazz with the spicy rhythms of Cuba, Puerto Rico, Africa and Brazil. They will perform in Hayfield House's Community Room.

• Mozart on Fifth will perform on November 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room. Playing 11 different woodwind instruments, this classical crossover trio performs material from Mozart to Scott Joplin, laced with humorous anecdotes and stories.

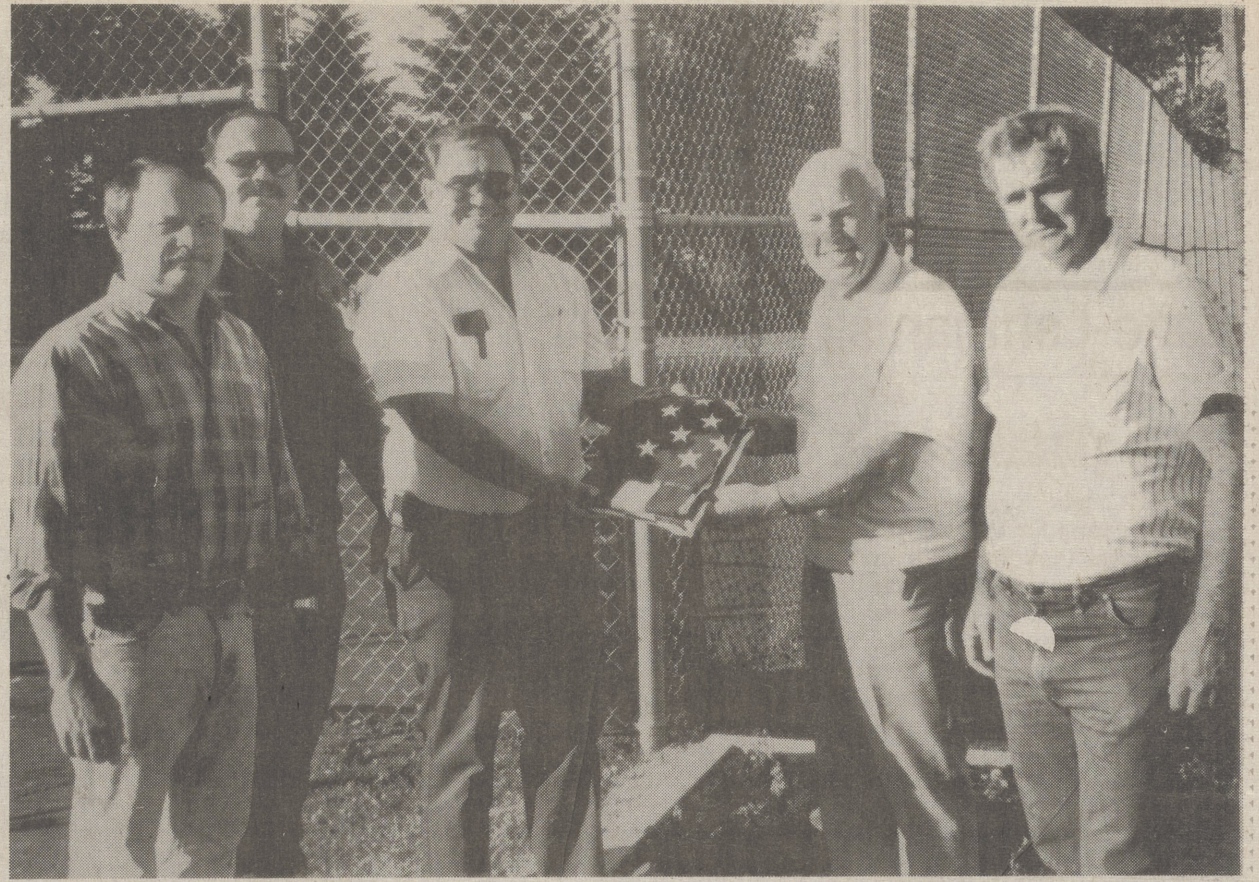

In addition to these events, the campus will also sponsor an International Film Series and "Great Books at Hayfield" discussion group.

• Educating Rita, Mon Uncle Antoine, Babette's Feast, Story of Women, Roger and Me, and 8 1/2

are just a few of the films being shown this fall. All International Films are shown in the Science Building Auditorium, and begin at 7:30 p.m.

• "Great Books at Hayfield" will discuss The Power and the Glory, by Graham Greene on September 23. To the Lighthouse by Virginia Woolf will be the topic on October 21, and Lolita, by Vladimir Nabokov will be discussed on November 18. "Great Books at Hayfield" meets in the Hayfield House Community Room beginning at 7 p.m.

Local Jaycees ranked sixth in state

The 1991-92 officers and directors of the Back Mountain Junior Chamber of Commerce have announced that the Back Mountain Chapter was ranked first in terms of growth in Pennsylvania for May/June and ranked sixth overall in the state out of 190 Pennsylvania Jaycee Clubs. The announcement was made at a recent Pennsylvania

State Board meeting in Pittsburgh.

Jim Harris, president of the Back Mountain Jaycees, said, "This fine performance shows the dedication of our officers and members to do the best we possible can to make an impact on the communities in which we live and work."

The Back Mountain Jaycees, a community oriented leadership training organization is open to men and women from 21 to 40 years of age, hold their monthly general membership meetings the first Tuesday of every month at Pizza Perfect in Trucksville at 8 p.m.

Paintings by Rick Orlando on display

Acrylic paintings by Rick Orlando are currently on display at the United Penn Bank, Main Street, Dallas. Orlando, a resident of Dallas is a self-taught artist and musician. His paintings are full of brilliant color, hard-edged shapes and symbolic meanings. Trees, skies, and roads take on surreal characteristics. The paintings are cheerful and decisive, a reflection of their creator.

Orlando, an employee of Payne Printery in their electronic graphics department, began painting a few years ago while recovering from knee surgery. His grandfather, Richard Harding, also an artist, is well known for his prize winning carved and painted decoys.

The public is invited to view the exhibit in the lobby of the United Penn Bank, Main Street, Dallas, during regular business hours.

Vision screenings at school detect only 20 to 30 percent of eye problems in children.

Because of rapid growth and subsequent vision changes, school age children should have thorough eye examinations each year. Undiagnosed eye problems can cause learning difficulties.
