Veteran talks to Dallas students

Recently a Veterans Day program was held for the students attending the Dallas Middle School. The main speaker was Major Charles Luce who served with the 101st Air Borne Division during the Vietnam conflict and recently served as Operations Staff Officer with the 402nd Military Police Prisoner of War Camp in Saudi Arabia during Operation Desert Storm. Currently Major Luce is the Host Nation Liaison Officer for the newly formed 367th Military Police Command and Control Detachment. Major Luce spoke of the 402nd role in taking care of 12,000 Iraqi prisoners of war and the importance of the reserve soldier in the armed services. Major Luce stated that the American soldier is the best trained and equipped fighter in the world. He felt that the letters and packages from home had a great influence in keeping morale high during the war. In civilian life Luce is the Executive Director of the Luzerne County Human Resources Program. Pictured, Maj. Charles Luce, Beth Wagner, Student Council president; Dr. Gilbert Griffiths, principal.

Penn State has variety of speakers available

Did you know laughing can benefit your health? It can ease stress, prolong life, and just make you happier. "Laugh for the Health of It" is just one of the many topics offered to civic and community organizations by the faculty and staff of Penn State Wilkes-Barre through a Speakers Bureau.

The more than 100 topics range from economic recovery to financial planning, from "The Clock Ticks" - a time management seminar, to self defense concepts.

"Our faculty and staff have so many varied interests and are well-versed in numerous areas, not only in their own fields, but in a wide range of topics of general interest to the community," said Paul Schwartz, director of academic affairs.

For more information about Penn State Wilkes-Barre's Speakers Bureau, contact the office of University Relations at 675-9158. Pamphlets listing topics will be available by January.

Sem Lower School students design quilts

Children in grades one through four of the Wyoming Seminary Lower School in Forty Fort recently designed their own quilts as part of a group-oriented project. One quilt was designed by each of the grades in the primary division. They will hang in the foyer of the school as part of a semi-permanent display.

Paul Brown gives three professional presentations

Paul S. Brown, formerly of RD 2, Harveys Lake (Beaumont), recently gave two professional foreign language presentations to the Massachusetts Foreign Language Teachers Association annual meeting titled "The Video Grader" and "New Approaches To The Integration of Culture into the Foreign Language Curriculum."

PAUL BROWN

Both presentations dealt with innovative, creative ways in which foreign language teachers can teach for proficiency in communicating in a foreign language. In April, Brown also gave a national presentation in New York City to the Northeast Conference On The Teaching of Foreign Languages. Over the last 22 years, Brown has given more than 20 state and national professional presentations.

Brown graduated from Turkhannock High School, received his B.A. in Spanish from Wilkes College, M.A. in Spanish Literature from Middlebury College in Spain, and has completed all the course work for the Ph.D. degree in Spanish literature from Boston College.

In addition he possesses a M.B.A. in Finance and Management from Babson College. He teaches at Wellesley High School, Wellesley, MA. Brown resides in Harvard, with his wife, Lisa, the United States Channels and Marketing Human Resources Manager for Digital Equipment Corporation and son, Eric and daughter, Ashley. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brown of RD 2, Harveys Lake (Beaumont).
