

Legion commemorates Pearl Harbor Day

By GRACE R. DOVE

American flags appeared on everything from jacket lapels to the coffee rolls as area veterans observed the 50th anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor at a breakfast Saturday, December 7, at the American Legion Daddow-Isaac Post 672 in Dallas.

Guest speaker Senator Charles D. Lemmond commented that Pearl Harbor was the end of the age of innocence in America, the end of American thinking that our country could live in total isolation, not having anything to do with the safety of other countries.

This observance is more than a memorial for those who made the supreme sacrifice for their country," he said. "It is a time to reflect on the lessons that we learned from World War II. The names on the Honor Roll in the center of Dallas and those on countless monuments in other towns across the country remind us of the terrible toll exacted by the war. Pearl Harbor will be etched on our minds forever as the symbol of the consequences of underestimating threats to world peace and stability. We can pay no finer tribute to those who served than to insure that the nation that they died for remains free."

Thomas Reese was Master of Ceremonies, while John George led the Pledge of Allegiance. Rev. Andrew Pillarella, Pastor Emeritus of Trinity United Presbyterian Church offered the invocation, followed by a welcome from Post Commander Walter I. Galka, who also presented certificates of appreciation to Senator Lemmond, Rev. Pillarella and Father Cusick for their assistance.

Head Start

the program's statistics show that it is reaching only about 20% of eligible children in the two counties. Each center has a waiting list of children whom the program has no room for, according to Patricia G. Liberatore, operations/training specialist at Luzerne County Head Start.

Project Head Start has received considerable attention in recent years, according to Ms. Liberatore, due to research findings documenting the program's lasting positive effect on children. Head Start children, according to statistics, score higher in math tests, have stronger self-concepts and are less likely to be held back a grade or be assigned to special education classes, when compared with other low-income children who did not attend an early childhood program.

According to Dallas Borough Police Chief John Fowler, the Dallas Borough police, in conjunction with the Luzerne County DUI Task Force, will conduct a DUI checkpoint on Route 309 in Dallas Borough during the weekend of December 13-15, weather permitting.

The checkpoint is funded by a PENN-DOT highway safety grant and is administered by the Luzerne County Court Advocate Program.

The DUI checkpoint's purpose is to educate the motoring public, to deter the operation of vehicles by drivers impaired by the use of alcohol and to reduce the number of alcohol-related traffic accidents.

According to state police and Dallas Borough police statistics, the Route 309 corridor in Luzerne County has a high rate of alcohol-related accidents.

In addition to checking for DUI violators, police will also look for equipment violations, expired registrations and inspections, seatbelt usage and other violations.

Chief Fowler states that although every vehicle entering the checkpoint will be stopped, any delay to the motoring public will be kept to a minimum. More checkpoints in the Back Mountain area are planned for the future.

NOT MANY SNOW BLOWERS COME WITH THIS UNIQUE ATTACHMENT

When Consumers Digest named two of John Deere's snow blowers "Best Buy," it came as no surprise to us. After judging our features like remote snow deflector adjustment, simple one-hand operation and easy-starting engines, they just confirmed something people have known for a very long time. Nothing runs like a Deere.

If the snow belt is your home, the TRS 24 is your machine. The smooth-running 8-hp engine bites 26 inches of snow with each pass. And with all the controls right at your fingertips, the only time you'll have to let go is when you put it away.
$34.00 per month

For a snow blower with light-weight design but heavy-weight performance, there's the new TRS 21. With an easy-starting 4-hp engine and 21 inches of clearing width, the TRS 21 makes short work of even the longest driveway.
$25.00 per month

Save up to $150<sup>00</sup>
Now during our "Sno-Dough" sale you can get up to $150 off on selected snow blowers. Just think of it as our annual white sale.
