Academic competition

On March 11, Lake-Lehman competed along with nine other schools in the annual Jets team test at Penn State Wilkes-Barre campus. The test was comprised of questions in Chemistry, Physics, Mathematics, English, Biology and Computer Science.

Although Lehman did not place at the competition, the scores between the different teams were very close. Representing Lehman at the event were seniors Jason Toluba, Diana Shoemaker, Alyssa Bost, and Kim Lockavich and juniors Jeff Gold, Ben Fiore, and Fedor Welabob.

Blood Drive

Also on March 11, the Lake-Lehman Key Club held its second Red Cross blood drive of the school year. With a shortage of blood in the area our contribution was very important. Sixty-seven students and faculty members donated blood for a successful turnout. This is one of the Key Club's major community service activities.

Play 'Robin Hood' planned

This year the Lake-Lehman players are putting on a production of Don Nigro's Robin Hood. This is a modern adaptation of the classic Robin Hood told with rich humor, despite the serious theme. The co-directors are Jean Lipski and Reverend Jim Pall. April 8-11 are the tentative dates for the performance. A dinner theater type setting will be held before the performance where food is to be served.

Quiz Bowl

On March 13, the Lake-Lehman WNEP quiz bowl team is returning to Avoca for lunch and the following awards ceremony. Quiz bowl team members Karen Sichler, Jeff Gold, Alyssa Bost, Jason Toluba, Layla Osmond, and advisor Mrs. Christine Kopcho are attending.

Studying Spanish culture

Lake-Lehman Spanish students are busy learning about Spanish culture. On March 13, students watched the Alejandra Dondines dancers perform native South American dances at Luzerne County Community College. And on Monday, March 16, students are attending the Gateway theater in Kingston to see the movie "Captain from Castille," the story of a Spanish conquistador who fights the Inquisition and the Incas.

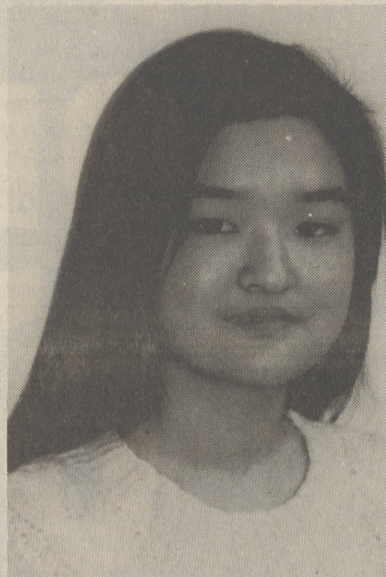

Recognized for their art work

Seminary Parents donate $26,400 to the Upper School

At a recent meeting of the Wyoming Seminary Upper School Parents' Association, school president H. Jeremy Packard accepted a check for $26,400 from Association president Carol Greenwald to go toward the purchase of materials for the school. The amount represents proceeds realized by the annual Parents' Auction.

Among the items approved by the Parents' Association for purchase are computers, word processors, and laser printers for faculty and student use and instruction; a human body model for the science department; videos for the humanities and social science departments; listening materials for the music department; a potter's wheel for the art department; VCR and monitor, plus videos and maps for the history department. A contribution toward the catalog computerization of the school's Kirby Library was also made.

Sisters of Mercy will sponsor a tutor program this summer

Sisters of Mercy of the Dallas Regional Community will sponsor a tutorial program this summer to assist and enrich students in grades one through eight in reading, language skills and math.

The program will be held at Mercy Center, Dallas, for four weeks on weekdays from Monday, July 6 through Friday, July 31. It will consist of a two-hour individualized instruction period from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

For further information, call 675-2048, extension 385, or contact Sr. Martha Hanlon, RSM, at the Dallas Regional Community Administrative Center in Dallas.

Dallas offers a program for parents of teenagers

Mrs. Raelene Daring-Olszewski, guidance counselor at the Dallas Middle School, has introduced a new program for parents. The program, STEP/Teen (Systematic Training for Effective Parenting of Teens) provides skills and alternatives which parents can use to develop rewarding relationships with their teenagers.

The program deals with a number of special challenges faced by parents of teenagers: Their child's growing independence and increased social pressures; dating, curfews, and the use of cars; part-time jobs, career plans, and the increased importance of homework; relating to other adults who have problems with their teens; lying, stealing, anger and violent use of alcohol, tobacco and other drugs; sexual activity, pregnancy, and early marriage. Through systematic presentation of concepts and skills, STEP/Teen seeks to help parents improve relationships with teenage children.

The program consists of eight weekly meetings. Presently there are two groups one meets in a morning session and the other meets at night.

Mrs. Daring-Olszewski stated that STEP/Teen will be continued next Fall. There will be mailings sent to all middle school parents and any interested party may sign up for the program at that time.
