Sexual harassment focus of program

Sexual harassment as seen from an overall ethical perspective will be the topic of a public forum on April 30, at the campus of Penn State Wilkes-Barre. The forum, "The Ethical Implications of Sexual Harassment", is sponsored by the Ethics Institute of Northeast Pennsylvania, and will be held in Hayfield House beginning at 7 p.m.

The purpose of the workshop is to generate creative involvement among participants to define harassment, discuss the ethical and legal ramifications of harassment, recommend ways to raise awareness and resolve conflicts, and suggest a process for reporting harassment.

"Executives, administrators, and employees as well as concerned citizens and students should attend the forum," said Sister Siena Finley, director of the Ethics Institute.

Presentations will be made by Kathie Flanagan-Herstek, sexual harassment contact officer at Penn State Wilkes-Barre; Dr. Linda Trompeter, Assistant Academic Dean at College Misericordia; Ruth Slamon Borland, Esq., of Borland & Borland; and Joe DeMarco, corporate relations director at Procter & Gamble.

The event is co-sponsored by Penn State Wilkes-Barre, College Misericordia, Chambers of Commerce of Wilkes-Barre and Scranton, and the Luzerne County Commission for Women.

The Ethics Institute was established to increase the understanding of contemporary ethical issues in business, government, politics, health care, and social services. It is a non-profit organization that provides a non-partisan forum to exchange ideas and explore major ethical issues in society.

Finally...

true & effective relief from eyestrain and headaches caused by computer use.

COMMON VDT SYMPTOMS:

- Headaches
- Eyestrain
- Irritated eyes
- Blurred vision
- Slow refocusing when looking from copy or screen to distant objects
- Frequently losing your place when moving your eyes between copy and screen
- Difficulty seeing clearly at distance after prolonged VDT use.

The growth of this problem was documented in a University of California study which estimated that approximately 10 million Americans visited eye specialists in 1989 complaining of symptoms resulting from VDT use.

What is Visual Noise?

Anything over and above what we need for efficient and comfortable vision constitutes visual noise. Just as background noise is distracting for proper hearing, excess and distracting light sources become visual noise.

within the electromagnetic spectrum. In effect, it is an optical filter. As a result of looking at the VDT screen for a lengthy period of time, the eye becomes more sensitive to a wide range of visual "noise", including VDT phosphor emissions, fluorescent light, sunlight, glare and reflections. After the patented AVN chemical treatment is applied, lenses are anti-reflection and smudge-proof coated. The AVN process can be applied to all prescription and non-prescription lenses, made of ultra-strong polycarbonate, plastic and the new, light & thin high-index plastic.

AVN is the Solution

AVN stands for anti-visual noise. It's a patented chemical process that treats eyeglass lenses to eliminate specific frequencies

Treated lenses retain an attractive "blush" color.*
