According to Dallas Borough police, a 1991 Buick Park Avenue operated by Louise Mroczek, 76, of RR 3 Wyoming was involved in an accident with a 1983 Toyota Corolla operated by Donna Shields, 24, of Wilkes-Barre, at the intersection of Lake Street and Route 415 Monday afternoon, May 4. Police said that the Mroczek vehicle pulled out onto Lake Street after stopping at the sign on the ramp connecting Lake Street with Route 415, when it collided with the Shields vehicle, which was turning left onto Lake Street from Route 415.

Patrolman William Norris investigated the accident.

MAN CITED IN BACKUP ACCIDENT

According to Dallas Borough police, a 1983 Chevrolet Blazer operated by Harvey L. Dymond, 44, of RR 5 Tunkhannock was involved in an accident with a 1989 Dodge coupe operated by Marie Troxell, 65, of Dallas. Police said that the Dymond vehicle, which had stopped on Church Street at the traffic light at Route 415, attempted to back up to allow another vehicle to exit the Acme parking lot. The Dymond vehicle backed into the front of the Troxell vehicle, police said. Dymond was cited for improper backing up and limitations on backing, according to the report.

Patrolman Mike Krzywicki investigated the accident.

Jeffrey Thomas Hosle, of RR 3, Harveys Lake, was driving south on Route 309 when he lost control of his vehicle just south of the intersection with Church Road.

Hosle told police that his truck hydro-planed, jumping the curb, striking a power pole, and coming to rest after hitting a vacant home.

There were no injuries in the accident, but traffic was slowed as the right southbound lane was closed to traffic until 3 a.m. May 9, police said.

Investigating officer was Ptl. Robert Weiss.

Schwartz gets life for killing

Stephen G. Schwartz was found guilty of first degree murder Monday, May 11, by Luzerne County Judge Hugh Mundy.

Schwartz will spend the rest of his life in prison without chance for parole.

Schwartz pleaded guilty to the general charge of homicide before Mundy on May 4.

Schwartz, 29, of Dallas Township shot to death his former girlfriend Deborah Van Leuven, 27, of Lake Ariel, on January 27. Van Leuven was shot when she arrived his parents' home on Wind-ror Drive with their 2-year-old daughter, Stephanie, to honor his visitation rights.

Mundy also found Schwartz guilty of theft and receiving stolen property for fleeing in Van Leuven's car with her credit cars after the shooting, and also for taking the handgun used to the commit the murder from another girlfriend.

Mundy dismissed the recklessly endangering charge against Schwartz which was filed because Schwartz allegedly endangered the child, who witnessed the shooting.

After the verdict, District Attorney Peter Paul Olszewski said he would not seek the death penalty. Olszewski earlier had said he would seek the death penalty because the shooting endangered the child, and that when Schwartz killed Van Leuven, he murdered a witness who was to testify at a criminal trial against him.

Exeter man dies in accident

An Exeter man was killed in a one vehicle car accident late Saturday evening after his car struck a tree and flipped over on Mount Olivet Road.

Hugh T. Jones III, 48, of Orchard Street, Exeter, was driving south on Mount Olivet Road when for an unknown reason his car left the road and traveled about 50 feet before striking a large tree, police said.

After hitting the tree, the car rolled onto its roof and burst into flames.

Two passing motorists pulled Jones from the 1983 Chevrolet Celebrity and dragged him about 90 feet from the wreck just as the car started to burn, police said.

Police said Jones was declared dead at the scene by Deputy Coroner Joseph Shaver.

Investigating officers were Ptl. Robert Parrish and Ptl. Charles Raushkolb.
