DAPPER DAN the CLOWN and COSMO the CHICKEN

Dapper Dan, a.k.a. Daniel Bonner of Easton, Pa., has performed in 19 different Circuses throughout the country. He performs at fairs, parties, picnics, malls, balloon shows and many charity functions approximately 150 days per year. He's been clowning over 30 years. When he worked at Mack Trucks Inc., he would clown on weekends and on his vacations.

Dapper Dan is always accompanied by his sidekick, "Cosmo the Chicken." Cosmo is a well dressed chicken that dances and jumps through a hoop of fake fire. He does this from a leash that Dapper controls. Strolling through the crowd, they never fail to attract attention and entertain the people. When people see Cosmo perform, they wonder if he can lay eggs. Dapper obliges by perching Cosmo atop his head, closes his eyes and produces an egg through his mouth. He can also put on a stage show with magic and sleight of hand. Dapper has been known to entertain one person and before you know it, there is a big crowd around him. He also has been known to hold a crowd for a long time without being bored. He has so many tricks in many pockets. Most of his act is carried on his costume. You never know what he will pull from his pockets.

Dapper Dan isn't satisfied with the definition of a clown according to the dictionary. Dapper states as follows: "A Clown is a vitamin pill to restore youthfulness and to restore health to a sick depressed world."

Dapper Dan and Cosmo will appear at the Moscow Country Fair on Saturday, August 9th from 1-5 p.m.

Founded in 1985, the Blue Mountain Cloggers are an original, eye-catching, team of old-fashioned dancers that receives rave reviews wherever they perform.
