It was pretty fun helping them with their letters. The girl I helped wanted a porcelain doll. I didn't really know there was such a thing. She was very nice and she had to think a little before she had an idea.

These are the thoughts of the fifth graders after helping first grade write their letters!

When I was writing for Nicole Sans I felt like I was in 1st grade. I remember when I was in 1st grade adn the 5th graders wrote letters for me. Now I'm the 5th grader and now I'm writing. It is like a flashback on TV. It was lot's of fun.
