Meadows honors newly certified nursing assistants

The Meadows Nursing Center, Dallas, recently held a Certified Nursing Assistants' (CNA) recognition ceremony to honor graduates of the center's CNA 75 hour training program who attained state certification by successfully completing both written and practical skills testing.

A pin and certificate of merit was awarded to each participant by Thomas Sweeney, Administrator and Bette Segrave-Daly, RN, Director of Nursing. Families and fellow staff members joined the graduates at a reception immediately following the ceremony.

The Meadows Nursing Center is owned and operated by Ecumenical Enterprises, Inc., a private non-profit corporation.

ARC programs for families of retarded

The ARC of Luzerne County, serving people with mental retardation and their families, sponsors Parent to Parent Support Groups that meet regularly each month to discuss problems and topics relating to parenting of children with special needs.

The following meetings are scheduled to be held during the month of March:

Tuesday, March 16—Physically challenged
7-8:30 p.m.—Support Group for parents of children who are physically challenged. This group's focus is to stay on top of best practices, augmentative devices, adaptive equipment, learning styles, and facilitated communication. Parents share information with each other and sometimes a meeting is hosted by a parent in their home.

Tuesday, March 23—School Aged Children

7 to 8:30 p.m.—Support Group for parents of students with mental retardation who are ages 6 through 14 years. Focus is on developing parents' educational and system advocacy skills.

Wednesday, March 24 - Preparation for Adult Life

7-8:30 p.m.—Support groups for parents of students with mental retardation who are ages 14 through 21. Focus is on community integration, services, job skill development, higher education, competitive supported employment, and exploring a variety of options. Educational and system advocacy skills are developed.
