Civil War music and more April 18

"Ashokan Farewell," the haunting fiddle tune that was the theme for Ken Burns' public television series "The Civil War," brought international fame to its composer, Jay Ungar, who describes the tune as "a Scottish lament written by a Jewish guy from the Bronx." Long before "The Civil War," though, Jay Ungar and his wife and partner Molly Mason were popular performers much in demand on the folk music and dance scene for their high-spirited renditions of country swing and blues, Celtic and Appalachian music, folk and jazz.

Now, Jay Ungar and Molly Mason will appear in Wilkes-Barre, in a concert entitled "Music of The Civil War and Beyond" at Wilkes University's Dart Center for the Performing Arts, Sunday, April 18 at 7 p.m. One of a series of events planned to celebrate the 20th anniversary of WVIA-FM this spring, the concert will be presented by WVIA, public radio and television, with the Chicory House of Wilkes-Barre, Northeastern Pennsylvania's only venue for folk music and dance, and the Wilkes University Department of Music, Theatre and Dance. Tickets are on sale now, available from WVIA or from the Chicory House.

In their April 18 WVIA/Chicory House concert at the Dart Center, Jay Ungar and Molly Mason will present a set of songs and tunes from the Civil War, followed by a mix of the swing, folk, jazz and original material for which they've long been known in the folk world, including of course, Jay's famous "Ashokan Farewell."

Admission to Music of the Civil War and Beyond with Jay Ungar and Molly Mason is $10, or $9 for WVIA members and Chicory House subscribers. Advance tickets may be ordered by phone from WVIA using MasterCard or VISA. Call 717-344-1244 or 826-6144.

HERE IS A PLEASANT LITTLE GAME that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

HOME RUN! Will or won't this player reach home plate? Pick a path you think she'll take, and trace it through.
