Game Commission extends 'Planting for Wildlife' event

A Planting for Wildlife Program offered by the Pennsylvania Game Commission to benefit all types of wildlife has been extended. The Northeast Region Office will continue to offer, to the public, a specially selected packet of seedlings and a wildlife food plot seed packet.

The packet of seedlings will contain three each of the following species: Norway Spruce, White Pine, Bittersweet, Japanese Flowering Crabapple, Callery Pear and five each of Mugo Pine. Each packet will sell for $2. An information leaflet will be included describing the seedlings, instructions for planting, and care of seedlings.

Game Commission officials will also be offering for sale, wildlife food plot seed packets. This packet consists of a 10 pound mixture of assorted seeds which are recommended for wildlife food. The mixture includes Grain Sorghum, Proso Millet, Buckwheat and Sunflower. Each packet will plant one third to one half acre of a wildlife food plot. Brochures will be available explaining planting instructions. Each packet will sell for $3.

This program is being offered to benefit wildlife and good soil conservation. Hunters, as well as non-hunters, are encouraged to become involved. The supply of packets, both seed and seedlings, is limited and will be sold on a first come basis.

Sales will be limited to the Northeast Region Office located at the intersections of Rts. 118 & 415, Dallas, until May 7 from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.
