Seminary Players to present Lo and Behold May 14-15

Ghosts and haunted houses will take up residence in the Buckingham Performing Arts Center on the campus of Wyoming Seminary when the Sem Players present "Lo and Behold," a comedy ghost story on Friday and Saturday, May 14 and 15.

It is the story of a world-famous, wheelchair-bound, prize-winning author, Milo Alcott, who suddenly finds himself dead and haunting his own house. His young caretaker now occupies the house through a misunderstanding of Alcott's will. The deceased Alcott is bound and determined to chase the young woman from the house, if it is the last thing he does in order to live alone in the house himself. Complicating the matter are the ghosts who have been inhabiting his house longer than he himself has.

"Lo and Behold" will be presented each night at 8 p.m. and is open to the public. Tickets are $2 in advance, $2.50 at the door. For information, call Wyoming Seminary at 283-6090.
