Seminary plans summer fun and activities

Wyoming Seminary is now registering students for Sem Summer '93, which features more than 40 academic courses and three sports camps. The middle and secondary school academic program for public, parochial and independent school students runs from July 5 to July 30 at the school's Kingston campus.

Students entering grades 5 through 8 can enroll in middle-school courses such as "Money Management for Young Entrepreneurs," "Spanish for the Future" and "Stage Instruction." Those students who need help improving their basic skills and study habits can choose from "Decimals, Percentages, and Fractions," "Study Skills" and "Computer Writing/Word Processing."

Middle school students can also enroll in the Sem Disc Science Discovery program, which is an academic, activity-oriented science discovery program. This summer there will be two half-day courses available. "Moving and Shaking" looks at the physical and chemical world and "Life on Earth" studies the relationship between life and earth sciences. Financial aid is available for eligible students.

For those students entering grades 9 through 12, Sem Summer '93 offers a wide variety of courses. "The College Agenda" includes three courses: "SAT Math," "Study Skills" and "The College Workshop," which focuses on the college admissions process. Other courses offered in the arts, sciences and humanities include: "Film as Literature," "Algebra I Review," "Expository Writing," "Marine Biology," and "French I Review." Driver's education is also offered this summer.

Sem Summer'93 offers three sports camps for a variety of ages. The Blue Knights Sports Camp includes coed recreation and sports activities for students ages 8-14 from June 28 - July 30. Students can enroll for as many of the five weeks as they like. The camp will be under the direction of Wyoming Seminary Lower School coaches Tom Rokita and Edward Plaksa, and students will take part in tennis, swimming, soccer, football, athletic training and field trips.

From July 26 to July 30, the Girls' Field Hockey Clinic will improve players' basic skills and strategies. Under the direction of Wyoming Seminary field hockey coach, Karen Klassner and Temple University All-American Lori Warnaka, the clinic will be from 9 a.m. to noon.

The Girls Basketball Clinic is divided into two different sessions to ensure individual attention. The first session is from June 14 to June 18 with the second clinic from June 21 to June 25. Wyoming Seminary coach and clinic director Bernadette Kozlowski stresses individual skills, team play and good sportsmanship.

Students who are interested in any of Sem Summer '93 offerings should contact the admissions office at 283-6066 for information and applications.
