Beacham, a resident of Trucksville is owner and operator of Carol Beacham's Hair Designs in West Pittston. scene, the light splashed autumn trees surrounding a canoeist, and others.

Trucksville Volunteer Fire Co. asks for contributions

The volunteer members of the Trucksville Volunteer Fire Company are mailing a contribution letter to residents and businesses in their fire protection district. In the letter the volunteers are asking for a contribution to help support the community's fire fighting operations.

There is no fire tax that provides money for fire protection. The fire company only receives minimal municipal support, a $4,000 Township allocation. They rely on income from the letter drive and various other fund raisers held throughout the year. The fire company's $50,000 budget includes money needed to maintain their fire station and to purchase fire fighting equipment.

This year, the volunteers will use much of the money raised to purchase new portable fire fighting equipment, new protective clothing for the volunteer fire fighters, and update radio communications equipment.

"Without contributions from our residents and businesses, we will not be able to make these purchases", said Brian Johnson, Chief of the all-volunteer fire company. In addition to these purchases, the fire fighters are facing higher maintenance costs for their trucks, equipment and for their building. The fire fighters are continually working to improve their fire fighting readiness.

The volunteers hope to raise $25,000 with this year's letter drive. "To meet this goal, we have to increase our fund drive results this year", said the Chief. "It's getting really difficult for a volunteer company like ours to keep up financially, that's why we need all of our residents and businesses to contribute to this annual drive."

Anyone not receiving a contribution letter can donate by mailing a check to the Trucksville Volunteer Fire Company, c/o William Eck, 97 Rice Street, Trucksville, PA 18708.
