SSSgt. Adams participates in exercise

Newly promoted Army National Guard Staff Sgt. Bonnie S. Adams, along with 11,000 active, reserve and guard personnel, converged at Fort Bliss, to compete in the military's largest air defense training exercise, Roving Sands '93. The exercise, May 21 through May 29, included Army, Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps units, and took place in the desert ranges of west Texas and southern New Mexico.

Exercise activities encompassed a 1400 square mile area between Fort Bliss, Texas and White Sands and Roswell, New Mexico. It concluded with a 36-hour air battle employing the most sophisticated weaponry and aircraft currently used by the U.S. armed forces.

The objective was to test the military's integrated (ground-to-ground, air-to-air and ground-to-air) air defense systems in a realistic combat environment.

The soldier is a broadcast journalist at Camp Mabry, Austin, Texas. Adams is the daughter of James and Claire Futch of RR 3, Wyoming. She graduated from Dallas Senior High School and from Pennsylvania State University at Middletown in 1982.

Denison House craft fair set for July 18

Women of Newberry to hold tea July 21

As the 21st century approaches, the curtains of time will be separated and a journey into the graciousness of the 1970s will be provided by Women of Newberry with the club's second annual tea Wednesday, July 21, 4 p.m. at The Terrace (formerly The Barn).

The social gathering will carry out the traditions established almost two decades ago when the Newberry Women's Club was organized to make available a variety of programs including instruction in fitness, bridge, art, cooking and sewing.

There were monthly luncheons, bridge parties, holiday teas and lectures.

Because of the expansion and change of ownership, the club as it was organized ceased to be active.

However, many of the organizers of the original and highly successful women's group, have reinstated the club and have plans for a diversified agenda of activities. The July 21 tea, is open to members and invited guests. A donation of $5.00 is requested.

A response to the invitation is requested.

Committee members include: Mrs. C.F. Laycock, Mrs. Robert J. Hughes, Mrs. Robert G. Edgerton, Mrs. Robert C. Hosey, Mrs. William Rogers, Mrs. Charles Snyder, Mrs. Gerald Leehan, and Mrs. E.J. Schellenberg.

Reservations may be made by calling 675-5236.

Girl Scouts looking for a few good women

A Lou Harris Survey taken several years ago asked Girl Scouts about their relationship with their leaders. Two thirds of those interviewed said they had adult leaders they could turn to if they needed help. Eighty three percent said they looked up to their leader as a very special friend they could call at any time. Older girls were even more specific. Ninety three percent said their leaders were positive role models. The girls all agreed that leaders helped by teaching new things and supporting those who had problems.

Penn's Woods Girl Scout Council is looking for a few good people who would like to join the ranks of the leaders.

Girl Scout leaders are very special people. They enjoy being with girls, doing fun things, as well as sharing their own experiences and knowledge. Girl Scout leaders are usually the first adult friends the girls make and count on, and they don't necessarily have daughters.

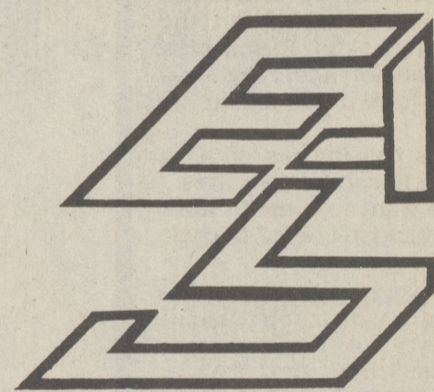

How do you get to be a Girl Scout leader? First you have to decide whether you are up for a challenge - and if you are - then you volunteer. (That's easy! Just call the Council Office at 717-829-2631 or the local phone number for your Girl Scout Service Center.)

Knowledgeable staff people will discuss what you would like to do, which age level you want to work with. Girl Scouts come in all sizes: Daisies are in kindergarten; Brownies are first to third grade; Juniors are fourth to sixth grade; Cadettes are seventh grade to ninth grade; and Seniors are 10th to 12th grade.
