Airshow '93 to make "French Connection"

Armed Forces Airshow '93 will be held on August 21 and 22 at the Wilkes-Barre/Scranton International Airport. This 11th annual event will feature the nation's preeminent precision dual aerobatic team the "French Connection". This husband and wife, Daniel Heligoin and Montaine Mallet, began flying as a team in 1977, shortly after coming from France as representatives for the CAP 10 aircraft, which is manufactured by Mudry Aviation.

Working from the Dutchess County Airport in New York, they soon earned a reputation for a quality performance that featured aerial grace and precision maneuvers. The red and white striped aircraft are easy to follow in the sky as they hold precise positioning through intricate turns and loops that include their "Mirror Image" and their exclusive "Fleur de Lys". Choreographed with music and poetry plus color wingtip smoke, the French Connection have an additional dimension to airshow flying. The French Connection will be one of many aviation acts in a show that will feature the U.S. Navy Blue Angels precision flight demonstration team. Other attractions will be the U.S. Army Golden Knights

SPECIAL ATTRACTION - The "French Connection," Daniel Heligoin and Montaine Mallet, a husband and wife air acrobatic team, will be featured at Airshow '93, August 21-22

Parachute Team; Sean D. Tucker, the 1992 Airshow Performer of the Year, flying the Randolph Sunglass Challenger; Gene Soucy and "Showcat" aircraft, which will be the platform for his wingwalking companion, Teresa Stokes; Lou Paparazo, a native of Pottsville, PA flying his 320 HP Pitts S-2 S biplane; Team America, the nation's premier non-military flying team; and a special attraction, the Grumman "Cat Flight", in a salute to naval aviation. In addition to the flying acts, there will be power demonstrations of the Air Force F-16C "Fighting Falcon" and the Navy F-14 "Tomcat". On the ground, almost a mile of aircraft of all types will be open for inspection, photography and for the crowd to meet the pilots and crews. These will include a large contingent of warbirds, passenger aircraft, antiques, and contemporary military airplanes from the United States, Canada and England. Tickets will be sold only at the entrance gates and cost $8 for adults, $4 for children ages 6 through 12, and children under 6 are admitted free when accompanied by an adult. Persons attending are encouraged to bring chairs and blankets and enjoy the many attractions and displays. Numerous refreshment stands will be staffed by members of non-profit organizations that will benefit from purchases.
