LCCC expects largest enrollment in history

In a few weeks, Luzerne County Community College will once again open its doors to the college's highest enrollment ever.

The community college is expecting 2,750 full and part-time freshmen students for the Fall 1993 semester, the largest freshman class in the 26-year history of the college.

In commenting on the record enrollment, Thomas Leary, dean of admissions and student affairs/ registrar at LCCC notes the college is anticipating an increase of full and part-time students for the Fall 1993 semester of approximately four percent. Leary adds overall enrollment of full and part-time students for the Fall 1993 semester is expected to be more than 7,200.

The community college will offer a full slate of courses for the Fall semester at its Dallas off-campus extension site. Registration for courses in Dallas will be conducted at the Dallas Area High School on Monday, August 16, from 6 to 8 p.m.

Among the courses scheduled to be offered in Dallas are classes in Accounting, Business Law, English, Literature, Mathematics, Word Processing Sociology, Psychology, Marketing, History, Fitness and Wellness, Microcomputers, Typing, Philosophy and Speech.

Tuition at the community college is $48 per credit hour, enabling students to complete a one year certificate program at a cost of slightly more than $1,500, and a two-year degree program at a cost close to $3,000.

The community college will welcome its new freshmen class at the annual Freshman Orientation program set for Friday, August 20 at 8:30 a.m. in the college gymnasium. The day's activities will include small group discussions, campus tours, an information session for parents, an outdoor lunch, an activities fair where students will be given the opportunity to join various clubs and activities and a session on financial aid.

Day and evening classes for the Fall semester will begin on Tuesday, September 7. The college also will offer credit courses for the Fall semester at its off-campus sites in Berwick, Elk Lake, Hazleton, Honesdale, Kingston, Old Forge, Pittston, Scranton, Tobyhanna, Tunkhannock and Wilkes-Barre.

Offset donates special computer program to LCCC

Ultimate Technologies, Inc., a software production company based in Montreal, recently donated an Impostrip layout and imposition package to the electronic imaging laboratory of the Graphic Communications/Printing Technology Department at Luzerne County Community College.

Impostrip is an electronic strip- ping and imposition software program which enables the electronic assembly of PostScript pages for more than 70 desktop publishing applications or professional typesetting systems into finished signatures ready for printing.

Ultimate Technographics, Inc. is a software development and marketing company specializing in software for the printing industry and is the inventor of Impos- trip. With a customer base of over 2,800 in 45 countries, Ultimate maintains its product line as a standard in the printing industry worldwide.

The relationship between LCCC and Ultimate was made with the assistance from Offset Paperback Manufacturers, Dallas.

Penn State Wilkes-Barre to host open house August 5

Area high school students, grades 9-12, are invited to attend open house at the Penn State Wilkes-Barre Campus in Lehman. "It's Never Too Early to Plan a Penn State Education" is the theme for the program which is set for Thursday, August 5, at 6:30 p.m.

"We are seeing more students each year who are thinking about college at an earlier age. They are the ones who have taken the right courses and are most prepared when the first day of college rolls around," said John Barnes, head of the Admissions Office at Penn State Wilkes-Barre. "That's why we are inviting all high school students and their parents to come talk to us now, whether they are planning on entering school this fall, next year (1993), or in two or three years."

On hand will be faculty mem- bers, career counselors and advisors, and representatives of the student aid department to talk about the best way to finance a college education. The head of the job placement office will provide information as well. Parents are especially invited. A light picnic supper will be served.

"Penn State Wilkes-Barre last year provided more than 80 schol- arships to worthy students," Barnes added, saying that the number and amount of scholar- ships being offered increases each year.

Students interested in four year degree programs can begin the first two years of any one of 180 different majors at the campus, can complete a bachelor's degree in Electrical Engineering Tech- nology, or complete any of seven associate degree programs.

To make reservations for the Open House, contact the Admis- sions Office at 675-9238 or 1- 800-426-2358.

College Misericordia to offer two foreign languages again

Foreign languages will be offered as part of the curriculum at College Misericordia beginning with the fall 1993 semester. Dr. Mary Glennon, RSM, academic dean, has announced.

French and Spanish will be offered at Misericordia for the first time since 1977.

Humanities majors and busi- ness majors must complete six credits of a foreign language while all other students can choose three or six credits of a language as an elective.

The availability of foreign lan- guages is an important addition to the Misericordia curriculum according to Dr. Donald Fries, chair of the humanities division.

"Foreign language courses will help Misericordia students prepare for graduate school as well as international employment opportunities," explained Fries.

Each language will be taught in two introductory sections, two intermediate sections and one advanced section. Students can choose to test out of the intro- ductory and intermediate sections and study in the advanced section, an intensive reading course.

College gets drug/alcohol grant

College Misericordia has been awarded a grant from the United States Department of Education for its Drug and Alcohol Prevention Program.

The two-year, $103,000 federal grant is part of the Fund for the Improvement of Post Secondary Education (FIPSE). FIPSE was founded in 1986 to address problems of substance abuse on campuses nation- wide as part of the Drug Free Schools and Communities Act.

The campus-wide program will provide peer counseling about drug and alcohol prevention for students. Peer counseling will begin this fall and is open to students campus-wide.

The grant will enable Misericordia to increase its current drug-free program by offering more alternative programming for students includ- ing dances, athletic events and cultural events.

Gerry Wall, director of counseling at Misericordia, will serve as project director.
