

Two area artists to exhibit their work August 22-28

Two local artists, Sue Hand and Leigh Pawling, have been painting outside on location throughout the Back Mountain and Wyoming Valley as well as in their Dallas studio in preparation for their art exhibit of recent works. The exhibit, entitled "Through 2 Different Eyes Part II," will be on display August 22 through August 28 at Sue Hand's Imagery, Dallas.

The paintings and drawings were all completed by the two women this past spring and summer. They include local landscapes, skyscapes, scenes from the Maine coast, figure studies, florals, and still lifes of fruits and vegetables. The works have been completed in graphite, ink, watercolor, oil, alkyd and mixed media.

Pawling, a graduate of Wittenberg University, Ohio is presently studying figure painting at the New York Art Students League where she also works as a class monitor. Prior to her New York studies she spent a year painting in Florence, Italy. Pawling is represented by several galleries in the Cayman Islands.

Motorboats must be registered

The Pennsylvania Fish and Boat Commission is reminding boaters—novice and veterans alike—that Pennsylvania law requires the registration of all motorboats, including those powered by electric motors. In addition, all boats using Commission lakes or access areas, whether powered or not, must be registered and display their numbers and valid registration stickers.
