This academic merit scholarship is presented by Wyoming Seminary annually to two new students in primary and middle school grades who excel in written examination and an interview with the dean of the Lower School.

Seminary plans for 150th homecoming

October 1, 2 and 3 will mark Wyoming Seminary's Sesquicentennial Homecoming '93, one of the first celebrations of the school's 150th anniversary. It will feature a variety of activities to mark this special year in the life of the school and commemorate its past. Chairs of the event are Melanie Maslow Lumia '82 and Paul Lumia '81, Dallas.

Friday, October 1, there will be a golf outing at Irem Temple Country Club, Dallas, with the first tee-off at noon. Greens fees are $40 and interested golfers are urged to register early because places are limited.

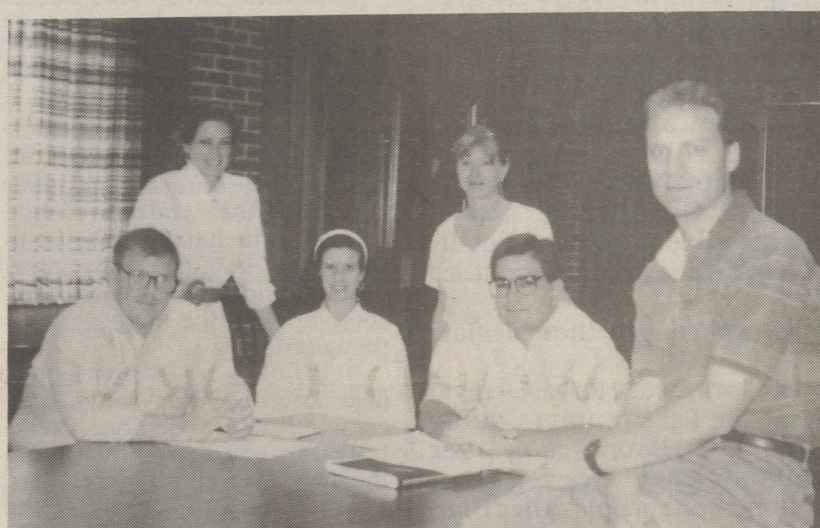

The Madrigal Singers will gather for a singing alumni reunion that afternoon from 5 to 6:30 in the chorale room of the Buckingham Performing Arts Center. Hosts are John M. Vaida, Jannell Decker '77, Sue Dantona Jolley '82, and Laurie Chapin Rothschild '83.

At 6:30 Friday, John and Catherine Shafer will host an Open House at their home until 9 p.m. Alumni are invited to dress casually and enjoy the jazz music and good company.

Saturday, class agents, reunion gift chairpersons, reunion coordinators and class reporters from around the country will meet in Nesbitt Hall from 9:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. to review plans for the upcoming year.

"Learning in the '90s" allows alumni the opportunity to be a student for a day and catch up on what's new in the classroom. Mini-classes with current teachers will be held from 10 a.m. until noon.

The Sem Blue Knights football team takes to Nesbitt Field at 2 p.m. where they meet New York Military Academy. The Wyoming Seminary Alumni Council will hold a tent party at the field for friends to meet and enjoy the game. Halftime will see the presentation of the school's Outstanding Young Alumnus Award and the crowning of the Homecoming Queen. The Class Float Award will also be presented by the Homecoming Alumni Committee, chaired by Jack Evans '71.

Saturday at 6:30 p.m. alumni can enjoy four hours of socializing at the Blue and White Dinner Dance to be held at the Westmoreland Club. Music will be by Something Else, with a special appearance by The Anzalone Brothers. Chairs for the Blue and White Dance are James Anzalone '62 and Jessie Conyngham Anzalone; Jeannie McCarthy Clements '77 and Robert Clements '72. Tickets are $30 per person and available through the Alumni Office.

Sunday morning is a time to talk over the events of the weekend around the snapshot board.

A bagel brunch will be held from 10 to 11:30 a.m. on the front campus in front of Fleck Hall or in the dining room in case of inclement weather.

For more information on Sesquicentennial Homecoming '93 call Tish McCarthy, director of Alumni Programs at 283-6040.

Misericordia faculty gain nat'l honors

Two members of the occupational therapy department at College Misericordia have recently received national recognition.

Amy Gerney, OTR/L, acting director of the occupational therapy program at Misericordia, recently presented at the 73rd Annual Conference of the American Occupational Therapy Association in Seattle, Washington.

Gerney presented a paper entitled "The Application of the Lifestyle Performance Model in Physical Disabilities."

The Lifestyle Performance Model, which was designed by Dr. Gail S. Fidler, Misericordia's occupational therapy scholar-in-residence, has been widely used as a design for the study and practice of occupational therapy in mental health.

Fidler collaborated with Misericordia faculty members including Gerney, Grace Fisher and Sr. Kristina Knott, RSM, who have studied and applied the model to physical disability practice.

Fidler also published an article entitled "The Quest for Efficacy" in the July issue of the American Journal of Occupational Therapy.
