

KT rules for political signs

All political candidates who plan to post signs in Kingston Township are reminded that signs can be posted no earlier than thirty days prior to any election and must be removed no later than thirty days after the election.

Campaign signs cannot exceed four square feet in size and signs cannot be attached to fences, trees, or utility poles.

A bond in the amount of $100.00 must be deposited with Kingston Township prior to issuance of a sign permit and the posting of any sign. The bond will be returned if all signs are removed within thirty days after the election.

A permit to post political signs can be obtained from the township zoning office on 11 Carverton Rd. in Trucksville. Questions can be directed to the zoning officer at 696-3809.

Montessori school seeks accreditation

Wyoming Valley Montessori School, 851 W. Market Street, Kingston, has completed a year-long Self Study program in preparation for review by a visiting team of educators sent by the Commission on Elementary Schools of the Middle States Association and the American Montessori Society. The local school was chosen as one of the 10 pilot schools selected from throughout the country for joint accreditation.

Led by parent Margie Esopi, the WVMS faculty, administration, Board and parents have looked at every facet of the school, from program to building and finance. During their three-day visit, the team will observe classes and interview staff, parents, Board and students in order to present their report and recommendations.

Clarification

Due to incorrect information given to a reporter, the owner of a home at 92 Harris Street in Dallas Township's Roushey Plot section where an arson fire occurred May 22 was incorrectly listed as Paul Ungvarsky. Mr. Ungvarsky said that he was not the home's owner at the time of the incident.

Dallas Rotary hosts district governor

District Governor Dr. Paul Kerr recently addressed the Dallas Rotary Club at Irem Temple Country Club. In his message to "Memorize the True Image of Rotary", service, fellowship, ethics and peace, the Governor noted that, "There are no borders when people care." He then went on to emphasize the role of Rotary Foundations in World Community Service, and the Match Club program, where one more affluent club takes on financial support of another less able one.

OPM names Lynne Williams "Employee of the Quarter"

Lynne Williams was recently named Offset Paperback Mfrs., Inc. Employee-of-the-Quarter for July, August and September 1993.

Lynne started at OPM on October 15, 1980 in the Bindery Department and soon after took a position in the Order Fulfillment Department. In 1987 Lynne transferred to our Shipping Department where she still works as a Shipping Assistant.

Her extremely cooperative attitude, desire to learn new jobs, ability to work well with others and willingness to help out in crunch situations are just a few of the reasons why she was chosen Employee-of-the-Quarter.

As Employee-of-the-Quarter, she received an Employee-of-the-Quarter certificate, preferred parking for the quarter, dinner for two certificate and a $200 savings bond.

Library dedicates 'Color and Read' book to kids' librarian Marilyn Rudolph

As the children's librarian for the Back Mountain Memorial Library, Marilyn Rudolph has had many rewards over the years as she has seen children develop a love for reading. She agrees with one of her favorite poets, Walter de la Mare that "only the rarest kind of best in anything can be good enough for the young."

Rudolph herself is probably the "rarest kind of the best" children's librarian. In honor of her dedication and commitment to children over the years, the "Back Mountain Color and Read" book is being dedicated to Marilyn Rudolph. A Back Mountain Memorial Library fund raiser, the "Back Mountain Color and Read" book will feature illustrations of the Back Mountain by 32 young people in grades kindergarten to sixth grade.

Rudolph began working at the library 24 years ago. Her responsibilities as children's librarian include selecting, reviewing, and ordering all of the books for the children's department. In addition, she conducts story hours for two year olds and three to five year olds. During the summer, she encourages children to continue their reading through a Summer Reading Program for first to sixth graders and a Read-To-Me program for pre-schoolers to first grade.

According to Rudolph, a love of literature needs to be developed at an early age. Through the reading and story hours programs, families are encouraged to bring children to the library at an early age to get them interested in reading and also to learn that the library is a fun place to visit. Rudolph noted that there is a high correlation between steady visitors to the library and a high level of achievement in their schoolwork.

Asked if she had seen a decline in reading interest over the years, she responded "The listening skills are lacking due to the fact that everything is interpreted for them through television." On the positive side, Rudolph noted that the report, "A Nation at Risk" has stimulated an upsurge in reading and literature. Two of Rudolph's favorite children's books over the years have been "The Secret Garden" by Frances Hodgson Burnet and "Charlotte's Web" by E.B. White.

Rudolph is a graduate of Wilkes-Barre Institute and Connecticut College where she majored in Social Work. She is a member and past president of the Junior League of Wilkes-Barre, a past member of the board of directors of Northeastern Pennsylvania Philharmonic and the Penn Woods Girl Scouts and presently serves on the board of the Home for Homeless Women. When not helping children at the library or serving on her many community organizations, Rudolph enjoys tennis, walking, and of course, reading. The wife of the late Richard H. Rudolph, she has three grown children and eight grandchildren.

"Back Mountain Color and Read" books may be ordered now at the pre-publication price of $4.00 until November 10. Orders are being taken at the Back Mountain Memorial Library and Sue Hand's Imagery. After publication in early December, books will be available for $5.00 each. Sponsorships are still needed from area businesses and individuals to offset the printing costs of the book. Anyone interested in becoming a sponsor or placing an order may contact Heather Hand Madeira, Sue Hand's Imagery at 675-5094.

Correction; Color & Read book sponsors still needed

An article in last week's issue stated that the Back Mountain Color & Read book to benefit the Back Mountain Memorial Library had over 200 sponsors. That is incorrect, and sponsors are still needed to help defray the cost of printing. Sponsorships available include: Spectrum Society, $100; Color Club, $40; Book Bunch, $10. A donation of $30 or more may be made in honor of, or in memory of a special person.

For more information, call Heather Hand Madeira at 675-5094.
