

Wilkes to host high school math contest March 25th

The Luzerne County Council of Teachers of Mathematics will hold the 46th Annual High School Mathematics Contest in room 101 of the Stark Learning Center at Wilkes University on Saturday, March 26, at 9 a.m.

Top prize winners in the junior and senior divisions will receive a full tuition scholarship to Wilkes University.

The tests, composed by Dr. Louise Berard and Dr. Vee Ming

Lew, faculty members in the Wilkes department of Mathematics and Computer Science, will be administered and corrected by participating mathematics teachers. Prizes will be awarded when grading is completed.

Students must be nominated by their mathematics teacher on forms which were recently mailed to all Luzerne County School Districts. For more information, call Dr. Berard at 831-4834.

S.A.D.D. assembly at Dallas

Recently the Dallas Middle School S.A.D.D. (Students Against Drunk Driving) Association held an assembly for the entire student body, featuring two guest speakers, Mark Ercolani, a nurse at Geisinger Medical Center and District Justice James Tupper. Ercolani spoke about the injuries he has seen in the emergency room which were caused by drunk drivers, while Tupper addressed the issue of how the law applies to drunk drivers.

Lower School students make six quilts for at-risk infants

To the fourth grade students at Wyoming Seminary Lower School, Forty Fort, a hero is someone with courage and values. To them, children who have been abandoned, and those with AIDS or problems related to an addiction are also heroes because they must have the courage to face an uncertain future.

To heighten awareness about AIDS and the suffering of young children, the fourth graders made ABC (At-risk Babies Crib) quilts. The non-profit organization known as Kids Making Quilts for Kids has distributed over 30,000 quilts nationwide. The students became interested in the project while studying a unit on heroes.

This is also the first time that the topic of AIDS was introduced in the unit on the human body.

The quilts were distributed recently at the Geisinger Wyoming Valley Hospital to children under the age of six who tested positive for HIV or AIDS, were abandoned at birth, or were born with an addiction to drugs or alcohol.

Each of the three fourth-grade sections, under the directions of teachers Patti Summerhill, Karen Lyon and Charlotte Sours, made two quilts. The class discussed themes, and each student designed his or her own patches using waterproof laundry markers.

A group of parents volunteered to help them sew the squares together on a sewing machine, tie the squares to batting and finish hemming the quilts.

LCCC will feature visiting scholar, women's programs

Luzerne County Community College will hold its seventh Visiting Scholar in Residence (VSR) Program featuring Marcia Ann Gillespie, editor-in-chief of Ms. magazine, on Thursday and Friday, March 17 and 18 at the college's main campus in Nanticoke.

In conjunction with the VSR program, "Careering Women for America's New Work Force" will be held at LCCC on March 18.

Thursday, March 17, Gillespie will hold an informal classroom lecture from 2 to 4 p.m. where she will discuss her career successes and her views on our cultural beliefs and then will entertain questions from the audience.

At 7 p.m., Gillespie will present "Racism and Sexism" where she will discuss facts about racism and sexism and related issues. A question and answer session will follow.

Reservations are required for the 7 p.m. session. Call 829-7360 for complimentary tickets.

In conjunction with this program, "Careering Women for America's New Work Force" will be held at LCCC March 18, in recognition of Women's History Month.

Both days' sessions are open to the public free of charge. For more information on the March 17 activities call the LCCC Foundation Office at 829-7360.

For more information on the March 18 events, call 829-7456.
