

Good enough to eat

Dallas Middle School social studies student Heather Jones designed a special project showing different geographical features on the earth: a cake with a relief map done in icing which she shared with her classmates. Heather is in Mr. Samuel Jayne's class.

No nite parking on KT streets

Kingston Township chief of police James Balavage reminds township residents that the winter parking ordinance restrictions begin November 2.

Parking is prohibited on all streets from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. through March 31, 1995, so that the streets are free of parked vehicles to facilitate snow removal.

The newly revised parking restrictions prohibit parking on all streets from the beginning of a snow or ice storm until eight hours after it ends. The chief encourages residents to comply with these restrictions to avoid parking citations.

Questions regarding the winter parking restrictions may be directed to Chief Balavage at 696-1175.

Dress rehearsal

In observance of American Education Week, the second grade classes at Dallas Elementary School will present a Thanksgiving program, "Jack Frost and the Scarecrow," Nov. 18, at 2 p.m. in the school.

Students will also share their songs, poems and other talents at the program, presented for Dallas Elementary families and friends.

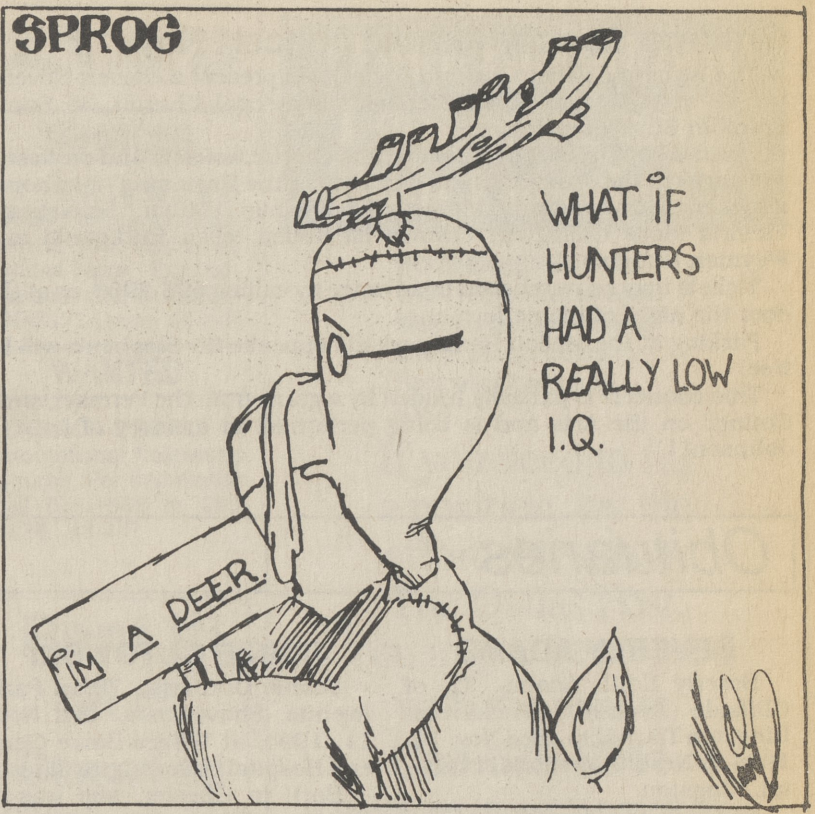

Practicing for the performance is Marcy Kester.

Montessori School parents elect officers

The Wyoming Valley Montessori School, Kingston, recently held its annual meeting and Back to School Night for new and returning families and elected its board of directors and officers.

Back Mountain residents Beth Hobbs, Jack Federspiel and Teri Pyros were named board president, vice president and parents' association president, respectively.

The school, offering programs for children ages 18 months through sixth grade, was recently accredited by the American Montessori Society and the Middle States Commission of Elementary Schools. WVMS was the first school in Pennsylvania and one of the few in the nation to achieve this double accreditation.

Honors student at Clarion

Dallas resident Lynn Baluh is presently enrolled in Clarion University's senior honors program. Established in 1986, the honors program includes a core of interdisciplinary courses which are substituted for some of the required courses for graduation. The 21-credit program is spread over four years. Lynn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Baluh and a graduate of Dallas High School.

Our position, word by word.

Accommodation

Accommodation is the reasonable way for smokers and nonsmokers to work out their differences.

That is our position at Philip Morris.

And it turns out that most Americans share this view.

In a recent USA TODAY/CNN poll among both smokers and nonsmokers, nearly 7 out of 10 respondents said they think that rather than banning smoking in public places, smokers should be allowed to smoke in separate, designated areas.

Philip Morris has a program that helps owners of businesses, such as restaurants, bars and hotels, to accommodate the choices of both their smoking and nonsmoking customers by setting up designated smoking and non-smoking areas.

The program works because it respects the rights and wishes of both groups. So both get what they want.

That's accommodation.

You could also call it a win-win situation.

For a free copy of our booklet, Smoking Issues, which contains more information about The Accommodation Program as well as information on other issues relating to smoking, please call us at 1-800-852-3445, Ext. 221.

We want you to know where we stand.

Facts Matter Businesses where smoking has been banned have reported, in some cases, up to a 30% loss in sales. Some restaurants have been forced to fire employees and others have even had to close down.
