Lake-Lehman's Humanities II class eats its way around the world at special dinner

By VALERIE WOLFE
 Student Correspondent

Every year, the Lake-Lehman Humanities II class puts on an International Dinner. The students pick countries and then conduct in-depth research on these countries for two months. They find foods people in their countries eat, Christmas traditions their countries practice and the clothes the citizens in their countries wear.

Finally, the night arrives to present all they have learned. Each group, consisting of at least five people, sets up a table and gives family and friends a glimpse of their country.

Tables display foods the groups have prepared for people to taste test. Smiling faces urge passers by to stop and taste their hard work. Colcannon from Wales, Pastichio from Greece, potatoes in parsley sauce from Spain, Bobalki from Ukraine, pickled beet salad from Germany, yule log dessert from France, and rye bread from Sweden make up some of the delicacies. Curious guests get a true sense of each country as they see flags, costumes and signs displayed around the area.

The hectic pace for the students is calmed by the homey atmosphere. Candles illuminate the white-walled cafeteria and Christmas music in foreign languages plays softly in the background. Friends and family enjoy the lighted Christmas tree decorated with ornaments made by students. Each ornament shows the student's personality and talent. To end the International Dinner, various groups present skits which portray Christmas traditions of their countries. Some sing carols in their country's language, others play instruments or act out the Christmas feast. When the skits are finished, the audience has a clear picture of Christmas around the world.

The students enjoy this English and history project. Danielle Pall who did Wales said, "The International Dinner was a lot of hard work, but at the end it all pays off for everybody because it was a lot of fun." Sarah Roberts, who was also in the group, who did Wales said, "The International Dinner gives students a chance to experience cultures around the world."

After all the stomachs were full and the skits were completed, the students breathed a sigh of relief because all their hard work paid off. Some even felt sad to leave their adopted country and return to their old way of life. This was definitely an experience they will never forget.
