

First Lehman lip synch contest was a big hit

By VALERIE WOLFE
Student Correspondent

The Lake-Lehman High School auditorium was filled with laughter on April 10, as the first annual Lip Synch Contest kicked off.

To open the program, Alison Milunic, Judy Sichler, Carrie Llewellyn, Beth Turner, April Hodick, Shannon Burke and Jen Sandstorm flung their bathrobes onto the floor and displayed sparkling gowns. With the letters R-E-S-P-E-C-T posted on their "behinds", the girls comically lip synched to the song "Respect."

The show turned more mellow as Angie Letoski and Amanda Weber performed two songs from "Phantom of the Opera." Dressed in mysterious black, Amanda wooed the audience with her portrayal of the Phantom. The duet displayed great talent in theatrical performance.

Another highlight was performed by Robb Brown and Chuck Kindler. Both known to be funny characters, the audience was expecting a hilarious show. First,

The winners who stole the show were Ebin Walter, Kevin Whipple, and Dan DiGiovanni. With pillow stuffed bellies and dressed in suits, the three lip synched to "Moon River." Peers roared as each opened their mouths wide and sang in an operatic style.

Students enjoyed their peers entertaining them. Mr. Spennburg, the vice-principal, summed it up nicely when he said, "It's great to see what talents these students possess."

Robb and Chuck lip synched to the "Lion King" song "In the Jungle" while protruding their heads through boards which had two "Lion King" characters painted on them. Then, jumping out from behind their costumes, the two started to rap. Thinking that their performance was complete, the audience wildly clapped for the comic team. Surprising the audience, the two came back and lip synched to the song, "If You Be My Bodyguard."

Students to make 'literary pilgrimage'

Students of the American Literature Field Studies Association of the Dallas High School are making final plans for travels to historic sites of New England May 2-6.

Students have studied American culture in class and in the American Literature Field Studies Association, as a co-curricular club at the school. Sites and artifacts pictured in the American Literature text book generated the focus for the students' interest in visiting the museums and exploring the historic sites.

Among the sites the students will study is Plimouth Plantation in historic Plymouth, Massachusetts, near Plymouth Rock. Here they will explore the living conditions of the Pilgrims as they established the early colony following their voyage on the Mayflower.

This Living Museum will offer the students the opportunity to interview the historic characters, including William Bradford and Captain Christopher Jones about their lives, their journey and their expectations.

Tops in 7th grade

Seventh grade students of the month at Lake-Lehman Middle Level Building were James Lyons, Carrie Houssock, Bryan Williams and Melissa Brady.

Presents research paper

Dallas resident Jeffrey B. King, a student at Susquehanna University, will present a research project at the National Conference on Undergraduate Research April 20-22 at Union College in Schenectady, NY.

King, a biology major with a biochemistry minor, submitted results of an experiment using the sea urchin as a model for possibilities of birth defects in diabetic women. King will continue his education in the fall at Temple University School of Medicine.

A graduate of Lake-Lehman High School, King is the son of Donald L. King of Dallas and Audrey E. Spencer of Kingston.

King is an active member of the Biology Club, the National Biology Honor Society Beta Beta Beta and is president of the Pre-Health Professions Club at Susquehanna.

Student of the Quarter

The Lake Silkworth Area Lions recently honored Jennifer Feehan as "Student of the Quarter" at Lake-Lehman High School. Feehan and her family were guests of the Lions and received a savings bond and a certificate.

Feehan is involved in numerous school activities. She plans to attend College Misericordia's physical therapy program to specialize in sports medicine or cardiopulmonary physical therapy.

Attending were club secretary Tony Stefanowicz, Jennifer, Barbara, Matthew and James Feehan; club president Kehin Swanger.

Meeting for special students' parents

Linkages for Life, an information fair for all parents of special needs students in the Dallas and Lake-Lehman School Districts, will be held May 3, from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Lake-Lehman High School Cafeteria.

The purposes of Linkages for Life is to provide information to parents of special needs students on transition, inclusion, advocacy, recreation, IEP development, employment and post secondary opportunities. Representatives from several local agencies will be available to answer any questions parents may have. Refreshments will be served. For additional information, contact David Bieri at 674-7230, Dallas or Phil Lipsky, 675-2165, Lake-Lehman.
