Dog officers to check for pets' license, rabies tags

Luzerne County will be canvassed for unlicensed dogs during May and June according to Eugene Dziak, Regional Dog Law Supervisor for the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

Dog wardens from the department's regional office in Tunkhannock will form teams to call on owners of unlicensed dogs.

Owners who failed to obtain 1995 licenses for their dogs should do so immediately, since violators can be cited to appear in court and fined up to $300.

Licenses are required for all dogs six months of age and older. The license can be obtained from the Treasurer's Office in Luzerne County Courthouse.

The fee is $3 for spayed or neutered animals and $5 for other dogs. Owners should present proof that their dogs are spayed or neutered. Senior citizens who provide proof that they are 65 or older pay $1.75 for spayed or neutered animals and $2.75 for other dogs.

Pet owners can obtain a license by mail by getting and filling out a dog license application for each dog and sending the required fee (check or money order) and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to:

Luzerne County Treasurer
 Courthouse
 Wilkes-Barre, PA 18711

During the canvass, dogs running at large will be impounded at a local animal shelter. Owners can be cited and fined up to $300 for letting their animals run loose.

At this time of year, dogs often form packs that attack livestock and other domestic animals. If the dog owners are identified, they can be required to pay for the resulting damage in addition to the fine. Dziak said.

Following the formal canvass, wardens will make unannounced license checks in the county.

Another Pennsylvania law specifies that all dogs and house cats over three months of age must be vaccinated against rabies. House cats are those that spend any part of a 24-hour period in a residence inhabited by a human.
