

Johnson exhibits paintings at Mellon Bank in Dallas

Andrew Johnson is exhibiting his paintings during August at the Mellon Bank, Main Street, Dallas.

Johnson is a student at the University of the Arts, Philadelphia. He began studying art while in the 6th grade with Dallas artist Sue Hand, winning many prizes for his drawings, watercolors, and acrylics. He has served as a juror for several art shows.

On display at the bank are a series of works in oils, which depict Johnson's painterly style. Some pieces are bold in shape and color. One almost Baroque painting of an old shoe stares back at the viewer with an honest appraisal.

Another piece entitled "Metal", could be a wheelchair or musical instruments, but is in actuality, a study of an old metal "found object".

Andrew Johnson, the son of Richard and Sarah Johnson of Dallas, is a graduate of Dallas High School. He is a summer art instructor at Sue Hand's Imagery where he teaches portfolio preparation and advanced drawing and monoprint.

His exhibit of artwork is open to the public in the lobby of the Mellon Bank, Main Street, Dallas, during regular business hours through August 31.

Arts at Hayfield to feature The Anzalone Brothers

The well-known sing-along group, The Anzalone Brothers, will perform at the Arts at Hayfield Summer Festival, August 27, at the Penn State Wilkes-Barre Campus in Lehman.

A juried craft show, Summer Festival assures its patrons quality artwork, crafts and jewelry. More than 80 booths of displays from stoneware to leather goods are scheduled to be featured between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. at the festival.

The Anzalone Brothers have been performing together for a number of years and use their musical talent to help raise money for various community events. They produced a tape of popular Penn State songs in which the proceeds go toward the Penn State Stan Hamilton scholarship fund. Jim and Ange Anzalone, along with Carl Kohl, Perry Orfanella and Paul Reinert round out the group.

Other feature entertainment includes "Just Us," a folk/rock band, The Back Mountain Reelers, magic tricks by Pat Ward, and a karate demonstration by Dudley Snyder.

Face painting, balloon sculptures, a free-style mural painting are just some of the activities planned for children.

A donation of $1.00 is requested of all adults. For more information, contact the campus at 675-9117.
