

College to exhibit Native American plant remedies

An unusual exhibition of paintings, drawings, pastels and watercolors by contemporary Native American artists will open at the MacDonald Art Gallery at College Misericordia on September 2. This show runs through September 30 and is free and open to the public.

The exhibit features a collection of works by several Native American artists which illustrate some of the common wildflowers, weeds, trees and bushes used by Native Americans as effective cures for illness or injury.

In addition to the artworks, the exhibition includes fascinating description of how each plant is used and how Native American medicine has influenced modern medical practices.

Gallery hours are Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, 12-5 p.m. and 6-8 p.m.; Friday, 12-5 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday, 1-5 p.m. Closed Monday. For more information, call 674-6250.

Hospice to offer workshops

Hospice Saint John will offer a series of free Grief Workshops next month to help individuals cope with and understand their loss.

The workshops consist of lecture presentations, small group sharing and a structured plan for working through the pain, memories and emotions associated with the loss of a beloved family member or friend who died recently.

The free workshops, are designed as a service to anyone in the community and consists of six two-hour weekly meetings.

The Wilkes-Barre Area workshop will be held Thursdays beginning Sept. 14, 7 to 9 p.m. at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, 813 Wyoming Avenue, Kingston. To pre-register call 823-2114.

Free parking is available. Because of the limited group size, pre-registration is required. Some assistance with transportation may be available.

For more information or pre-registration, call Hospice Saint John at 823-2114.

Library support

PSU of host open house on microcomputers

Penn State's Wilkes-Barre campus will host a series of microcomputer workshops, starting with a free open house September 6, previewing the Internet from 3 to 5 p.m. and Microsoft office products from 6 to 8 p.m.

Advance registration is required, as seating is limited. To reserve a place at the open house or for more information call 675-9210.

Back to School Unforgettable Basics Checklist

Make your first night at school a breeze! Be prepared for the first day of class by having all the basic necessities. Don't leave home without this "unforgettable" checklist.

If you are staying in a residence hall and shipping items to college, arrange with your school's residence housing office for someone to receive your packages. After all, the halls may not be open when they arrive. Also, ask for further information on items that due to school policy may not be permitted in residence halls, such as a coffee pot or electric coil. Being prepared will get you off to a great start!
