

Pietraccini chairs LCCC tournament

Ron Pietraccini, president and co-owner of Wasserott's Inc., has been named chairperson of the annual Luzerne County Community College Foundation scholarship golf tournament - Medico Family Invitational.

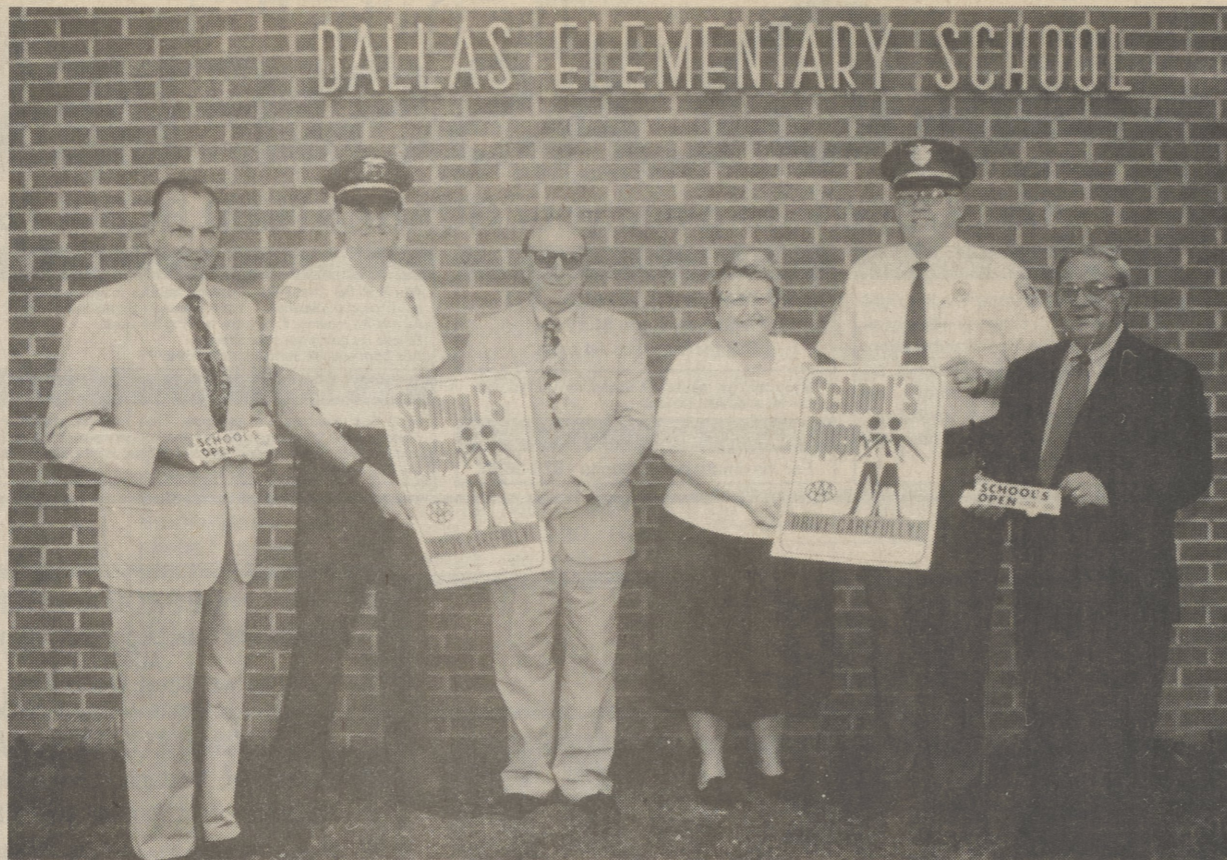

Pietraccini is a graduate of Princeton University. He serves on the board of the LCCC Foundation and is chairman of the National Home Care Group for Health Industry Distributors Association. He is a past director of the Pennsylvania Association of Medical Suppliers.

Pietraccini resides in Dallas and is the parent of four children.

The tournament, which is slated for Monday, October 2, at Fox Hill Country Club, will be captain and crew format and will begin at 11 a.m. with a brunch. Play will begin at noon with a shotgun start. A dinner and reception will be held following the tournament at 6 p.m.

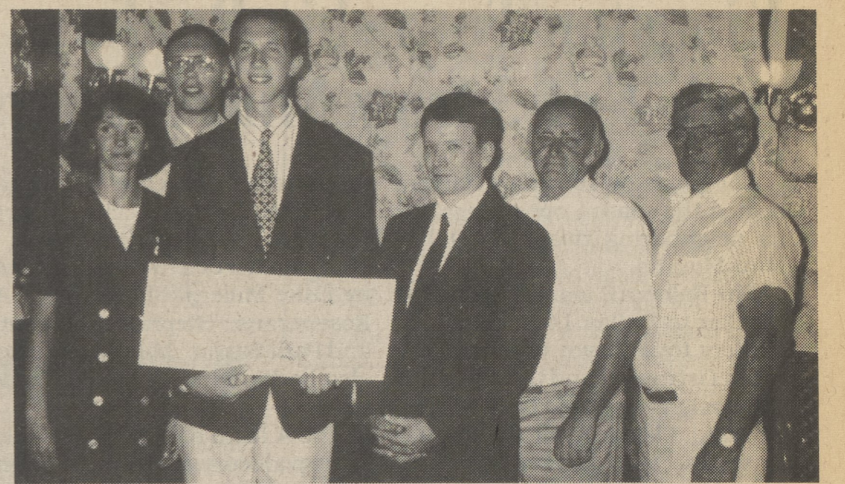

Proceeds will benefit LCCC's scholarship fund for financially-disadvantaged students.

For information about participant registration and hole sponsorship and/or dinner reservations call the LCCC Foundation Office at 829-7360 or 829-7325.

School's open - drive carefully

The Valley Automobile Club-AAA was joined recently by the Dallas Area School District and the Kingston and Dallas Township police departments in the kick-off of AAA's annual "School's Open—Drive Carefully" campaign. Over 600 posters were distributed to police departments in the area to be posted in their communities cautioning motorists to be alert. Accepting the signs were, from left, Patrick J. Higgins, safety director, Valley Automobile Club; James Balavage, chief of police, Kingston Township; George R. Isaacs, president, Valley Automobile Club; Ruth Tetschner, principal, Dallas Elementary School; Carl Miers, chief of police, Dallas Township and Charles J. Spitale, executive vice president, Valley Automobile Club.

Theresa, Joseph and Christopher Pagoda, John Feher, club president; George Yurko and George Pavlick, Lake Silkworth Area Lions members, were on hand recently when the Lake Silkworth Lions honored Pagoda for his many school accomplishments and honors.

Lions honor Chris Pagoda

The Lake Silkworth Area Lions recently honored Christopher Pagoda as Student of the Quarter and Chemistry Student of the Year at Lake-Lehman High School. He was presented with the Chester Szalkowski Memorial Chemistry Award, a savings bond and certificate in recognition of outstanding school and community achievement.

Pagoda's awards include Presidential Scholar at Alfred University, Tandy Technology Scholar, Bausch and Lomb Science award, National Honor Society, Youth Salute, third place Jets team test. Community service includes Adopt-A-Highway through the gifted program and chemistry demonstrations for the fifth grade at Lehman-Jackson School.

Pagoda's hobbies and activities are anchorman for the Morning News (Audio Visual Club), member of the varsity basketball team for one year, hiking, camping and mountain biking.

Pagoda plans to continue his education at Alfred University and major in ceramic engineering.
