Local dancers will appear in children's ballet

Wilkes University will host the children's ballet, "Melinda's Masquerade," at 7 p.m. on Saturday, September 16, and at 2 p.m. on Sunday, September 17, in the Dorothy Dickson Darte Center for the Performing Arts, South and River Streets.

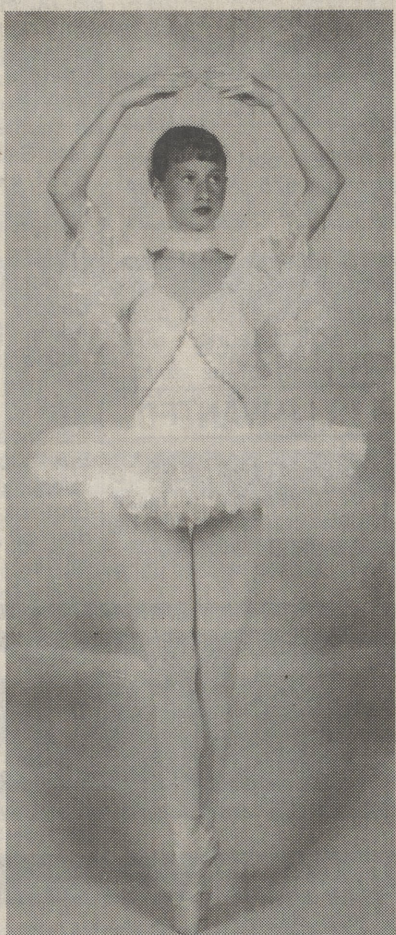

The musical score from the original ballet was composed by the late Rosendo Santos, a Wilkes University professor of music for more than 20 years before his death in November 1994. It was Santos' last musical score. He also had served as music director for the Shavertown United Methodist Choir for several years.

Proceeds from the debut performances of the ballet will benefit the Rosendo Santos Music Scholarship being set up at Wilkes University for music majors specializing in theory and composition.

Santos' three sons, all musicians, will perform with the orchestra for "Melinda's Masquerade." Indiana University professor of music Erik will conduct; Nathan, a 1992 Wilkes graduate will play the string bass; and Jason, a 1995 Wilkes music graduate, will play the guitar and percussion instruments.

The story for Melinda's Masquerade was written by Barbara Woronko Anzalone. She is the owner and director of the Northeastern Pennsylvania Academy of Dancing, Edwardsville. Approximately 35 of Anzalone's students will dance in the performances.

The ballet is about Melinda, a young girl who comes from a poor family, and her guardian angel. Melinda wants to be a dancer and is invited by a ballet company to a masquerade ball where she auditions for the troupe. Beth Hartshorne, daughter of Reverend and

BETH HARTSHORNE

LESLIE DEWEES

RANDA SHAHIN

Mrs. Don Hartshorne of Dallas, will play the lead dancer in the ballet.

Beth studies ballet and pointe exclusively with Barbara Woronko Anzalone in addition to classes in tap, jazz and lyrical. She attends the Dallas Area High School and is 15 years of age. She is a member of the Northeastern Pa. Academy of Dancing company called the Bobettes and recently returned from a performance in Disney World in Orlando, Florida.

Leslie Dewees, daughter of Fred and Marguerite Dewees of Dallas, and Randa Shahin, daughter of Mazen and Nina Shahin of Dallas will be members of the Corps de Ballet for "Melinda's Masquerade".

Both Dewees and Shahin study tap, jazz and ballet with Barbara Woronko Anzalone and are members of the group Classic Collection. They recently traveled to Orlando, Florida where they performed in Disney World. Dewees was recently awarded top honors in the First Annual Young Person's Vocal Competition sponsored by the Singers Guild of Scranton.

Committee members for the ballet are Madeline Volpetti, Rev. Harriet Santos, Cynthia Millington, Kim Kale, Corine Casterline, Kelly Brice, Lorraine Franckiewicz and Barbara Woronko Anzalone.

Tickets can be purchased at the box office before the performances or in advance by calling the Wilkes University box office at (717) 831-4540.
