Class learns all about bats

Mrs. Aldrow's fifth grade class at Westmoreland Elementary was visited recently by naturalist Jerry Kozlansky from Frances Slocum State Park, who spoke about bats and their nature. The class has decided to make a bat box and donate it to the state park. Attending were, front row, Caitly Bessmer, Ashley Toman and Paul Price; back row, Krystle Matthews, Vanessa Gogates, Mr. Kozlansky, Josh Brakefield and Jimmy Larson.

French the fun way

The French 3 class from Dallas High School presented a program May 23 to Dallas Elementary School kindergarten students, to teach the youngsters French words and phrases. There was a problem on the farm, as the cow couldn't get to sleep because the dog was counting singing sheep to over come insomnia. In the course of the skit, the children learned French words, and used them to solve the problem. Presenting the play were, from left, foreground: Kim Karavitch, Krissy Gawlas. On stage: Jerry Delescavage, Jessie Miller and Kim Wall, joined by a cast of stuffed animals. The French 3 instructor is Candyce Fike.
