

Brownies become Junior Girl Scouts

Ashley Hoover, Tiffany Gergel and Chrissy Zavaskas of Troop 659 recently enjoyed a Father-Daughter night working on Try-Its, followed by a Bridging to Junior Girl Scouts ceremony and celebration.

MLB president John Bartorillo, Metro Healthcare manager Craig Orlove and MLB art director Michael Stanford attended the awards dinner to accept their award.

MLB earns trophy for work

Maslow Lumia Bartorillo Advertising, Wilkes-Barre, was recently awarded the 1995 Collateral Material Trophy Award for communications excellence in the category of business-to-business advertising.

The brochure was created for InterMetro Industries Corporation's Starsys healthcare storage and materials handling system. The brochure is now eligible to compete at the District II level in New York City.

MLB Advertising is a member of the Northeast Pennsylvania Ad Club, one of 220 clubs in the American Advertising Federation which represents professionals in the fields of advertising, public relations, sales promotions, and marketing. Of the 290 broadcast and print entries submitted, MLB's brochure was judged best in its category for design, originality and creative strategy.

With over 16 years of experience, MLB is a leading full-service advertising agency specializing in target marketing, image and identity, public relations and creative impact. Through highly visible work with clients throughout the Eastern United States, as well as many internationally, MLB has garnered over 150 national, regional and local awards for excellence in marketing and strategic communications.

Cyclists sought for Hospice ride

The Hospice Hundred, the region's premiere bicycle pledge ride, will be held Sunday, July 28, at the Dallas Area High School. All funds raised will be used to help pay for the care of terminally ill Hospice Saint John patients and their families.

A very special element of the non-competitive Hospice Hundred is Team Dignity, a bike-riding team made up of family members and friends of patients of Hospice Saint John, who ride in memory of someone close to them.

Many individuals who cannot ride are helping out by making a pledge for Team Dignity in memory of or in honor of someone important to them.

While the Hospice Hundred-

Ride For Dignity registration fee is waived for Team Dignity riders, team members are still expected to raise the minimum of $150 in pledges by ride day July 28.

Teams who sign up with four or more riders can be part of the Hospice Hundred Team program. Teams can come from businesses, social clubs, civic organizations, churches or other groups.

For more information about riding in Team Dignity or making a pledge to help the terminally ill live out their lives with dignity, call Hospice Saint John at 823-2114 or 454-5300, Ex. 31.

Donations can also be sent to: Team Dignity, Hospice Saint John, c/o The LWS Foundation, P.O. Box 280, Hazleton, PA 18201.
