DISTRICT COURT BRIEFS

Woman arrested for fleeing police

Shavertown resident Tina S. Davis was arrested June 3 by Jackson Township assistant police chief Jerome Leedock for fleeing police pursuit. She was also cited for driving with a suspended license.

According to court documents, Leedock saw Davis driving on Smith Pond Road and recognized her from a traffic stop June 25, in which he had found out her driver's license is suspended.

When Leedock activated his lights and siren to pull her over, Davis increased her speed, ran a stop sign on Jackson Road and drove through a construction area at a high rate of speed.

Police say she then removed the license plate from her car and hid it on posted private property behind a stand of bushes and trees not far from the Rice Dam near the Lehman Township line.

Leedock patrolled the area several times, finally finding her hiding in the tall grass on the side of Smith Pond Rd. near Jackson Rd.

A preliminary hearing before District Justice James Tupper is scheduled for July 11 at 10 a.m.

D.U.I. ARRESTS

Two defendants waived their rights to preliminary hearings on D.U.I. charges July 2 before District Justice James Tupper and are free on $300 bail.

Forty Fort resident Francis Fleming, Jr. was arrested May 10 by Kingston Township officer Wade Curtis after running his car off the road and onto a guardrail on Hillside Road. Fleming told police he had missed the turn in the road.

After failing field sobriety tests, he took a blood test which showed his blood alcohol level to be .254, more than twice the .10 legal limit.

He was represented by attorney James Geddes.

Assisting at the scene were Kingston Township officer Charles Rauschkolb, Jackson Township officer David Kittle and Luzerne Borough officer Joseph Brozowski.

Buttonwood resident Paul John Hill, 43, was arrested May 16 by Dallas patrolman William Norris after police observed him driving erratically on Route 415 near the Route 118 intersection.

After failing field sobriety tests, Hill took a blood test which showed his blood alcohol to be .177.

He waived his right to an attorney.
