

Lowcavage exhibits art at Tudor Book Shop & Cafe

The Tudor Book Shop & Cafe Gallery will feature a special two-woman exhibit, showcasing the art works of area artists and teachers Sue Lowcavage and Mary Lou Steinberg through August 15.

Back Mountain resident Sue Lowcavage has studied art at Wilkes University, Kutztown University and Marywood College. She has also studied with nationally known artists in many workshops.

Her work has been included in a four-person show at the MacDonald Art Gallery, College Misericordia. She exhibits and sells her work in juried art festivals in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Lowcavage's work is in private collections and some of her work will soon be shown at the Heritage Gallery at the West Side Mall in Edwardsville. She has taught in the public schools for 28 years.

Mary Lou Steinberg received her art education at College Misericordia, Alfred University and Marywood College. Her work has been exhibited in juried shows at Wyoming Seminary and the Fine Arts Fiesta. Steinberg is a member of the Wyoming Valley Art League and the MacDonald Art Gallery.

This exhibit is free and open to the public. For more information, stop by the Tudor Book Shop & Cafe, 651 Wyoming Avenue, Kingston or call 288-9697.
